LONDON, Dec. 8 — The great Senegalese port of Dakar as well as air bases and other important war installations in French West Africa came formally within the orbit of allied operations against the axis today as American and British shock troops massed at Tebourba for an all-out assault against enemy positions.

At his headquarters in North Africa, Commander-in-Chief Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower announced completion of an agreement with Governor General Pierre Boisson of West Africa for "collaboration" in war against the axis.

(Editor's note: The Swiss radio reported from Algiers that the agreement embraces use of French air bases in West Africa by the allied.

Pact Announced

A statement broadcast from Africa and recorded in London said: "The allied commander-in-chief in North Africa announces that M. Pierre Boisson, governor-general of French West Africa, has agreed to collaboration with the United Nations in prosecution of war against the axis.

"M. Boisson has announced his aim of achieving full cooperation with the high commissioner of French North Africa, Admiral Darlan, by placing himself under M. Darlan's orders.

"Important points in the cooperative effort to be undertaken by French West Africa are the use of air fields for transiting allied planes and the use of port and harbor facilities by the United Nations navies."

Allied shipping and sailors interned at Dakar will be released immediately.

LEGAL PROBLEMS TO BE SOLVED FOR SOLDIERS

NEW YORK, Dec. 8—Every army post in the nation today was promised a legal aid clinic to assist servicemen with their legal problems.

George M. Morris, president of the American Bar Association, disclosed receipt of a letter from Robert P. Patterson, undersecretary of war, announcing department intentions to place the plan in operation soon.

"I believe that this effort will contribute materially to the war effort," Patterson wrote.

MRS. Margaret Holle of Chicago, above, is the mother of William Holle, Jr., youngest Marine. Young Holle enlisted in the United States Marine Corps October 28, 1941, when only 12 years old. He gave his age as 17. Now in a west coast Marine base Holle is resting from his adventures fighting Japs in the Solomons.

DRAFT GROUPS TO FALL SHORT

County For First Time
About To Drop Under Service Request

For the first time since Selective Service became operative during World War II the Pickaway county board will be forced to send a contingent to the induction center short of the number of men requested by state headquarters.

The county office said Tuesday that 10 of the men assigned to leave next week in the first of two groups called in December have been reclassified into 4-H, a class set aside for men who are more than 38 years of age. Orders to strike the men from the list were received Tuesday from Colonel Chester W. Goble, state Selective Service chief.

Thus the first contingent will be short. Some men of this age class were also in the second section scheduled to leave a week later, and they too will be stricken from the list. This group also will be short since the board does not have time to prepare replacements for the deferred group.

Men more than 38 who wish to enter the army may do so through Selective Service, volunteering in writing for service.

The Pickaway county board had sufficient men ready for the December call until the 38 year ruling was made Saturday by the President.

The board is making plans now for registration of boys who were born on or after July 1, 1924 and not after August 31, 1924. Registration of this group will be conducted from 9 to 5 p. m. from Friday, December 11, through (Continued on Page Two)

WIDEST OPEN TOWN IN LAND PUTS ON BRAKE

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Dec. 8—Las Vegas, said by some to be the "widest open town in America," turned over a new leaf today.

Bar owners announced they would close at midnight every night for the duration.

Gambling house owners said they would close their places at 2 a. m. daily.

Manpower Commissioner Pat Clark had complained that the all-night bars and gambling houses had been cutting down man hours worked at the important basic magnesium plant to an "appalling" degree.

Mussolini Not Yet On Trial Docket

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8—The state department today is compiling an "atrocity list" of the names of axis agents, especially Nazis, who are charged with perpetrating war crimes against the peoples of the conquered countries.

Information concerning individuals responsible for these war crimes is reaching the American government on an increasing scale.

This information is being compiled for presentation to the United Nations War Crimes Investigation Commission which is intended to establish before long.

Names of the accused axis agents concerning whom information already has been received are being kept secret in order not to jeopardize further efforts to obtain corroborating evidence of their guilt.

British Give Opinion

Meanwhile, the state department is in receipt of a formal note from the British government concerning its views on the punishment of war criminals.

The British note proposes that the War Crimes Commission be a fact-finding body; confining its activities to assembling evidence concerning alleged atrocities. The note suggested that the information assembled could later be used as the basis for decisions concerning the punishment to be meted out to the guilty parties.

Great Britain also proposed that the list of war crimes include those perpetrated in occupied France by the Nazis. The fighting French are understood to have compiled considerable evidence in this connection.

Both the United States and Great Britain share the view that punishment of those definitely found guilty of war crimes should be meted out as soon as possible after the war in order to avoid the danger of their victims, or the (Continued on Page Two)

NAVY, MARINE, GUARD WAR LOSS SET AT 18,838

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8—The number of sailors, marines, and coast guardsmen, killed, wounded and missing from the outbreak of war to November 30 today was placed at 18,838 when the navy reported that its casualties for the last half of November totaled 1,613.

A recapitulation of navy, marine and coast guard casualties from December 7, 1941 to November 30, last, follows:

Navy, 4,348, dead; 1,434, wounded; 8,473, missing; 2,815, total.

Marines, 1,114, dead; 1,370, wounded; 1,921, missing; 4,405, total.

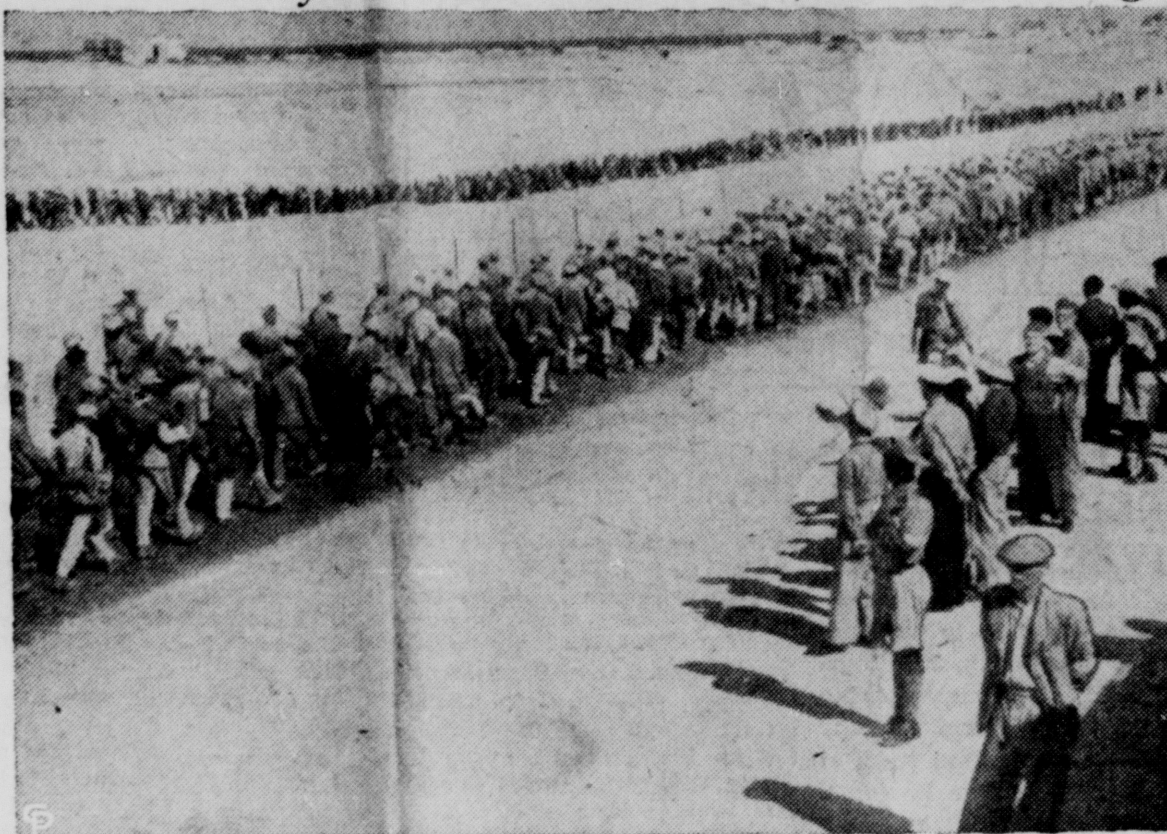

Coast Guard, 38, dead; 11, wounded; 129, missing; 178, total.

Total, 5,500, dead; 2,815, wounded; 10,523, missing; 18,838, total.

The latest navy casualty list, No. 18, covering the period November 16-30, reported 546 men as dead, 660 wounded and 407 missing.

The navy said that the preponderant share of the casualties resulted from direct action with the enemy, but pointed out that the total includes names of those who were lost in accidents at sea and in the air on duty directly connected with wartime operations.

JAPS LOSE 115 PLANES AT BUNA

Enemy Losses Include Zero
Fighters, Dive Bombers
And Medium Bombers

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Dec. 8—American and Australian pilots have destroyed a total of 115 Japanese aircraft and damaged scores more since the siege of Buna, Jap coastal base in New Guinea, began less than three weeks ago, revised estimates of allies successes disclosed tonight.

In the last seven days over New Guinea alone allied fliers have smashed nearly 70 enemy airplanes during the heaviest series of combat dogfights witnessed in this war theater and in half a dozen concentrated bombing and strafing blows at the Jap airdrome of Lae.

The Jap losses include medium bombers, dive-bombers and highly touted Zero-fighters—fighters whose value rapidly is being decreased by the hard hitting allied airmen.

Hailing the latest victory by U. S. and Australian airmen, Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey, deputy commander to Gen. Douglas MacArthur, sent a message to air force Commander Lieut. Gen. George C. Kenney on behalf of all the allied ground forces.

While progress of the allied ground forces besieging Buna has been slowed down by adverse weather and conditions of terrain, the air forces have been continuing their all-out slugging war with the Jap forces in the air and on the ground.

Besides the 115 enemy airplanes destroyed the allied airmen have killed hundreds of Jap personnel in the vicinity of the Lae airdrome and at Buna proper and have rung up an impressive toll of naval vessels destroyed:

One light cruiser, seven, and possibly eight, destroyers and two light combat vessels, all sunk by operations of medium and heavy bombers.

Both army and navy sources agreed the Japs probably lost a total of more than 1,000 planes of all types destroyed and probably another damaged since the opening of the Guadalcanal offensive.

YANK SPENDS $4.40 TO GREET RUSS CHIEFTAIN

FORT MACARTHUR, San Pedro, Calif., Dec. 8—From Pvt. Tim Shenk of the U. S. army to Marshal Timoshenko of the army of the U. S. S. R. a New Year's greeting will be delivered.

Pvt. Tim Shenk said today: "We've got more in common than just the sound of our names. We've both got the idea the Germans must be licked. So I thought I'd scrape up a little coin and send Marshal Timoshenko a cablegram."

"I just sent him a happy New Year greeting. It cost me $4.40, care of Moscow, but I hope it has to be forwarded to him in Berlin."

CONGRESSMAN'S SON IS VICTIM OF PNEUMONIA

Forrest Claypool, 32, son of Congressman Harold K. Claypool of Chillicothe, died of pneumonia Tuesday at 7:10 a. m. in Chillicothe hospital. He entered the hospital November 30.

Mr. Claypool was widely known in Circleville and Pickaway county. He had assisted his father in congressional campaigns spending much of his time in this community where he had scores of friends. Mr. Claypool had served as U. S. commissioner in the Chillicothe district for several years, resigning a year ago to resume private law practice.

Survivors besides his father, include his widow and a son and daughter, twins two years old.

Mr. Claypool was a graduate of Chillicothe high school and of Ohio State university where he received his law degree. He was a past president and organizer of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, was active in Democratic circles, a member of the Chillicothe Elks lodge, Chillicothe Country Club, and the Ross county Bar association, of which he served as secretary.

ONE MAN'S OPINION By Walter Kiernan

Old man Kaiser threw the Manufacturers' Association a bone with some meat on it when he asked 'em if they were ready to face peace.

It sounds funny to ask anybody if they are ready to face peace but it isn't funny to anybody who remembers the last war.

There's nothing looks so deserted of frightening after the peace whistle blows as a war factory with the gates closed.

It means that you got thousands of people out of jobs to be joined by thousands of boys coming back from service.

Old man Kaiser's idea is to get at the drafting boards now and be ready to shoot the works in peace-time production as soon as the war ends—whether it's in '43, '45 or '50.

The government can do some pitching there too. If we can plan for a war before it starts, we can plan for a peace.

There's nothing unpatriotic in figuring out in advance how you're going to stay out of the frying pan after you've climbed out of the fire.

Thought for the day: Keep the factory chimneys smoking.

NAZIS TO SEEK SPLIT OF ALLIES

Lord Halifax Says German
Outlook Is Black If Unity Continues

BALTIMORE, Dec. 8 — The United States today had a warning from British Ambassador Lord Halifax that Germany will now strive desperately to split the unity of the allies.

Addressing the Baltimore Association of Commerce and the Maryland branch of the English Speaking Union, Lord Halifax said:

"If we could put ourselves in Hitler's shoes, what would we fear most? Where would lie the great danger of defeat? There could be only one answer—the unity of the United Nations.

"If we remain united, the prospect for the Germans is black indeed; but if by any means we can be divided, then they may still hope.

"So we must expect that the worse becomes their military situation, the more they try to drive a wedge between the Allies."

The British envoy cited recent axis propaganda broadcasts to the United States and Britain to show how the Nazis already are trying to foster distrust between the two countries.

He said that the German radio one evening told the United States that "the British determine Washington's policy. Churchill requests, Roosevelt obeys."

A week later, Lord Halifax added the same radio told the British people that "the strategic direction of the war is determined by the British."

25 PERCENT OF JAP MERCHANT FLEET IS SUNK

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8—Approximately 25 percent of Japan's vital merchant fleet has been sunk in the Pacific during the first year of war, Secretary of the Navy Knox said today.

The announcement was made by Knox at a press conference in which he amplified a recent statement by him in which he said that Japanese losses in cargo vessels and troop transports were approaching the point of desperation and imperiling the security of the enemy's far flung bases.

The secretary stated that the Japanese launched their attack on the United States with a powerful fleet and a merchant marine totalling about 6,000,000 tons.

The total of cargo and supply ships sunk by warships and subs of the United States was set by Knox at between 1,000,000 and 1,500,000 tons or approximately 25 percent of the enemy's merchant marine.

The secretary said this loss obviously was serious in view of the fact that Japan "like England, is utterly dependent on shipping" both for the home front and for its many far flung Pacific bases.

Victories Of Spangler And Mrs. Brown Seen As Favoring Ohioan

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 8—Mrs. Katherine Kennedy Brown, Dayton, Republican national committeewoman from Ohio, today was elected a member of the GOP national executive committee.

Mrs. Brown was selected to succeed David S. Ingalls, Cleveland, who although now on active duty with the U. S. Navy remains on the national committee.

The selection of Mrs. Brown was viewed by observers as particularly favorable to the presidential aspirations of Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio as was the election of Harrison E. Spangler of Iowa as Republican national chairman. Mrs. Brown and Chairman Spangler together directed the western division of the Republican national campaign in 1936.

Senator Robert A. Taft, who eliminated himself from the field of 1944 presidential candidate possibilities when he announced his support of Governor Bricker, exercised Ingalls' proxy at the meeting.

Mrs. Brown has been Republican national committeewoman from Ohio since 1932. She is also president of the Ohio Federation of Republican Women's Organizations.

The executive committee performs such important party functions as the naming of officers to the national convention and often names the convention city.

DIDN'T BELIEVE ME, BOY WRITES AND ENDS LIFE

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 8—Barry Gilbert, 13-year-old adopted son of Film Comedian Billy Gilbert, committed suicide last night, police reported today.

Officers who investigated said the boy apparently placed a rifle against his chest and discharged the weapon with his toe. His body was found in the living room of the Gilbert home.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert, the foster parents, were believed somewhere in the East on a bond-selling tour.

Young Gilbert apparently was despondent over a reprimand allegedly given him over the telephone by his grandmother, Mrs. Robert B. McKenzie, after he had informed her a pet parrot had escaped its cage and was loose in the house.

As his grandmother was en route to the Gilbert home to assist in returning the bird to its cage, police said, the boy penned two notes and then shot himself.

One of the notes, addressed to the grandfather, said:

"I love you with all my heart. Tell mother and father I'm grateful for all they did for me. The reason I did this is because Grandma didn't believe me. I love you with all my heart. No one did this but myself. Please don't blame anyone for it."

Addressed "to whom it may concern," Barry's second note reiterated that he alone was responsible for his act.

McKenzie found the boy's body, one shoe off, on arrival. The only other person in the house was Victoria Ebersold, the housekeeper, who said she was in another part of the house and had not heard the shot, police said.

CHURCHILL TO TELL COMMONS ABOUT DARLAN

LONDON, Dec. 8 — Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden announced today that Prime Minister Churchill will make the opening statement to the House of Commons regarding the status of Admiral Jean Francois Darlan, temporary administrator of French North Africa.

The statement will be made at a secret session on the third day of the present series of sittings.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 — Secretary of Navy Frank Knox reported today that 15 French warships at Toulon remain intact and presumably in axis hands while 50 other war vessels of the once proud French fleet have been scuttled.

Knox, giving the first complete and official picture of what happened to the main French fleet, said that his statements were based on aerial reconnaissance made by United Nations flyers, apparently from new North African bases. The navy secretary also told his press conference, at which the disclosures were made, that four French submarines had escaped to neutral or allied ports.

May Join Battle
The revelations by Knox indicated that sea and air forces of the United Nations ultimately may be called on to fight the former French ships which remained intact. The British navy wiped out part of the French fleet at Oran shortly after France fell, and the navy of the United States also blasted other vessels of France when American troops were landed at Casablanca.

Listed as intact at Toulon are two light cruisers, a demilitarized battleship, three destroyer leaders, three destroyers, two gunboats and four submarines, plus five tankers.

In the damaged category were placed three battleships, five cruisers, 15 destroyer leaders, 11 destroyer, one seaplane tender, two gunboats, one net-layer and three submarines, plus a cargo ship and a demilitarized battleship.

"Actual condition of the French fleet at Toulon as revealed by air reconnaissance showed that quite a few of the ships still are intact," Knox commented.

Knox said he was at a loss to know why German sources encouraged earlier reports that the entire French fleet at Toulon had been scuttled.

Knox issued a breakdown of the various types of vessels sunk or (Continued on Page Two)

HUSBAND HURT, LIQUOR LOUNGE SUED BY WIFE

CHICAGO, Dec. 8—A north side cocktail lounge today faced a $50,000 damage suit brought by Mrs. Florence Layton, wife of John Layton, former three-cushion billiard champion and holder of 17 world titles during his career as a billiardist.

Naming the two operators of the place and the owner of the premises as defendants, Mrs. Layton charged her husband became intoxicated in the lounge before he was struck by a street car and that his earning power of $10,000 a year had been destroyed. Layton was said to be confined to a sanitarium in St. Louis.

Mrs. Layton, who filed the suit under the drastic Illinois Dram Shop Act, said her husband had been drinking in the Top Hat cocktail lounge before the accident.

DRAFT GROUPS TO FALL SHORT

County For First Time About To Drop Under Service Request

For the first time since Selective Service became operative during World War II the Pickaway county board will be forced to send a contingent to the induction center short of the number of men requested by state headquarters.

The county office said Tuesday that 10 of the men assigned to leave next week in the first of two groups called in December have been reclassified into 4-H, a class set aside for men who are more than 38 years of age. Orders to strike the men from the list were received Tuesday from Colonel Chester W. Gobie, state Selective Service chief.

Thus the first contingent will be short. Some men of this age class were also in the second schedule scheduled to leave a week later, and they too will be stricken from the list. This group also will be short since the board does not have time to prepare replacements for the deferred group.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 8 — The United States today had a warning from British Ambassador Lord Halifax that Germany will now strive desperately to split the unity of the allies.

Addressing the Baltimore Association of Commerce and the Maryland branch of the English Speaking Union, Lord Halifax said:

"If we could put ourselves in Hitler's shoes, what would we fear most? Where would lie the great danger of defeat? There could be only one answer—the unity of the United Nations."

"If we remain united, the prospect for the Germans is black indeed; but if by any means we can be divided, then they may still hope."

"So we must expect that the worse becomes their military situation, the more they try to drive a wedge between the Allies."

The British envoy cited recent axis propaganda broadcasts to the United States and Britain to show how the Nazis already are trying to foster distrust between the two countries.

He said that the German radio one evening told the United States that "the British determine Washington's policy. Churchill requests, Roosevelt obeys."

A week later, Lord Halifax added the same radio told the British people that "the strategic direction is determined by the British."

25 PERCENT OF JAP MERCHANT FLEET IS SUNK

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8—Approximately 25 percent of Japan's vital merchant fleet has been sunk in the Pacific during the first year of war, Secretary of the Navy Knox said today.

The announcement was made by Knox at a press conference in which he amplified a recent statement by him in which he said that Nipponese losses in cargo vessels and troop transports were approaching the point of desperation and imperiling the security of the enemy's far flung bases.

The secretary stated that the Nipponese launched their attack on the United States with a powerful fleet and a merchant marine totalling about 6,000,000 tons.

The total of cargo and supply ships sunk by warships and subs of the United States was set by Knox at between 1,000,000 and 1,500,000 tons or approximately 25 percent of the enemy's merchant marine.

The secretary said this loss obviously was serious in view of the fact that Japan "like England, is utterly dependent on shipping" both for the home front and for its many far flung Pacific bases.

Victories Of Spangler And Mrs. Brown Seen As Favoring Ohioan

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 8—Mrs. Katherine Kennedy Brown, Dayton, Republican national committeewoman from Ohio, today was elected a member of the GOP national executive committee.

Mrs. Brown was selected to succeed David S. Ingalls, Cleveland, who although now on active duty with the U. S. Navy remains on the national committee.

The selection of Mrs. Brown was viewed by observers as particularly favorable to the presidential aspirations of Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio as was the election of Harrison E. Spangler of Iowa as Republican national chairman. Mrs. Brown and Chairman Spangler together directed the western division of the Republican national campaign in 1936.

Senator Robert A. Taft, who eliminated himself from the field of 1944 presidential candidate possibilities when he announced his support of Governor Bricker, exercised Ingalls' proxy at the meeting.

Mrs. Brown has been Republican national committeewoman from Ohio since 1932. She is also president of the Ohio Federation of Republican Women's Organizations.

The executive committee performs such important party functions as the naming of officers to the national convention and often names the convention city.

DIDN'T BELIEVE ME, BOY WRITES AND ENDS LIFE

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 8—Barry Gilbert, 13-year-old adopted son of Film Comedian Billy Gilbert, son of committed suicide last night, police reported today.

Officers who investigated said the boy apparently placed a rifle against his chest and discharged the weapon with his toe. His body was found in the living room of the Gilbert home.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert, the foster parents, were believed somewhere in the East on a bond-selling tour.

Young Gilbert apparently was despondent over a reprimand allegedly given him over the telephone by his grandmother, Mrs. Robert B. McKenzie, after he had informed her a pet parrot had escaped its cage and was loose in the house.

As his grandmother was en route to the Gilbert home to assist in returning the bird to its cage, police said, the boy penned two notes and then shot himself.

One of the notes, addressed to the grandfather, said: "I love you with all my heart. Tell mother and father I'm grateful for all they did for me. The reason I did this is because Grandma didn't believe me. I love you with all my heart. No one did this but myself. Please don't blame anyone for it."

Addressed "to whom it may concern," Barry's second note reiterated that he alone was responsible for his act.

McKenzie found the boy's body, one shoe off, on arrival. The only other person in the house was Victoria Ebersold, the housekeeper, who said she was in another part of the house and had not heard the shot, police said.

CHURCHILL TO TELL COMMONS ABOUT DARLAN

LONDON, Dec. 8 — Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden announced today that Prime Minister Churchill will make the opening statement to the House of Commons regarding the status of Admiral Jean Francois Darlan, temporary administrator of French North Africa.

The statement will be made at a secret session on the third day of the present series of sittings.

British, Americans Mass Troops To Hold Lines In Tunisia

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 — Secretary of Navy Frank Knox reported today that 15 French warships at Toulon remain intact and presumably in axis hands while 50 other war vessels of the once proud French fleet have been scuttled.

Knox, giving the first complete and official picture of what happened to the main French fleet, said that his statements were based on aerial reconnaissance made by United Nations flyers, apparently from new North African bases. The navy secretary also told his press conference, at which the disclosures were made, that four French submarines had escaped to neutral or allied ports.

The revelations by Knox indicated that sea and air forces of the United Nations ultimately may be called on to fight the former French ships which remained intact. The British navy wiped out part of the French fleet at Oran shortly after France fell, and the navy of the United States also blasted other vessels of France when American troops were landed at Casablanca.

Listed as intact at Toulon are two light cruisers, a demilitarized battleship, three destroyer leaders, three destroyers, two gunboats and four submarines, plus five tankers.

In the damaged category were placed three battleships, five cruisers, 15 destroyer leaders, 11 destroyers, one seaplane tender, two gunboats, one net-layer and three submarines, plus a cargo ship and a demilitarized battleship.

"Actual condition of the French fleet at Toulon as revealed by air reconnaissance showed that quite a few of the ships still are intact," Knox commented.

Knox said he was at a loss to know why German sources encouraged earlier reports that the entire French fleet at Toulon had been scuttled.

HUSBAND HURT, LIQUOR LOUNGE SUED BY WIFE

CHICAGO, Dec. 8—A north side cocktail lounge today faced a $50,000 damage suit brought by Mrs. Florence Layton, wife of John Layton, former three-cushion billiard champion and holder of 17 world titles during his career as a billiardist.

Naming the two operators of the place and the owner of the premises as defendants, Mrs. Layton charged her husband became intoxicated in the lounge before he was struck by a street car and that his earning power of $10,000 a year had been destroyed. Layton was said to be confined to a sanitarium in St. Louis.

Mrs. Layton, who filed the suit under the drastic Illinois Dram Shop Act, said her husband had been drinking in the Top Hat cocktail lounge before the accident.

DOUGLAS IN SERVICE
WASHINGTON, Dec. 8—Movie Star Melvyn Douglas, whose appointment to the Office of Civilian Defense last Spring caused a storm of congressional criticism, today reports to the army at nearby Fort Myer as a buck private. Douglas joined the army just before President Roosevelt stopped enlistments and was sworn in yesterday.

damaged and others apparently intact. The first classification of damaged included:

Dunkerque (battleship)—awash in drydock.

Strasbourg (battleship)—aground on even keel.

Provence (battleship)—stern very low in water.

Commandment Tese (seaplane carrier)—severe list to port.

Two heavy cruisers (Suffern class)—very heavily on fire.

One light cruiser (Gallioniere class)—very heavily on fire.

Algerie (heavy cruiser)—aground and possibly on fire.

Merchant Ships Intact

Of the merchant shipping in the harbor at the time of the scuttling, all appeared undamaged with the exception of one merchant vessel of 270 feet which was observed in a sunken condition.

The merchant fleet included five tankers.

"No fires seen burning on land and no destruction apparent," the statement added.

In conclusion, the report added that magazines and storage tanks at nearby villages of Milhaud and Mondrier are intact.

By International News Service

Allied shock troops were being rushed up today to the allied lines holding grimly to their positions on the Bizerte-Tunis perimeter. As American and British forces hurried up the back roads a great tank battle was reported in progress on the Mateur-Tebourba-Djedida triangle controlling approaches to the vital seaports on the North Tunisian coast.

British naval units were reported in action in aid of allied ground forces which were said to be about ready to launch an all-out offensive to shove the German-Italian forces back into the sea.

Attack Planned

The attack will be made, reports from military circles stated, as soon as allied forces have established advanced air fields which will enable them to challenge axis planes based on coastal fields with the support of swarms of fighter and bomber planes from the nearby bases on the Italian island of Sicily.

Russian armies smashing at the German invaders on the eastern front pushed the enemy back on all fronts in celebration of the anniversary of the breaking of the Moscow siege last winter. It was one year ago that the Soviet forces cracked the German ring closing in on the Russian capital.

American forces in the Southwest Pacific observed the beginning of the second year of war against Japan by shooting down 18 Japanese planes and destroying three more on the ground in raids on Lae, New Guinea, and Gasmata on the island of New Britain.

In air fights over the Buna-Gona strip where a Japanese invasion remnant still holds out stubbornly, allied planes shot down six bombers, five dive bombers and seven zero fighters. Since November 20—less than three weeks—the enemy has lost 82 planes.

Elsewhere in the Southwest Pacific the Japanese were inactive as a result of recent crushing blows by the U. S. navy. The enemy has been unable to make the expected move to reinforce its desperate garrison on Guadalcanal island in the Solomons.

Question of school bus use in rural Ohio was being discussed Tuesday at an important meeting of educators conducted in Columbus. George D. McDowell, Pickaway county superintendent, was attending the meeting called by Kenneth Ray, state director.

The Office of Defense Transportation program which calls for pupils living within two miles of their school to walk to classes rather than being carried in the bus was being discussed at length, school men opposing the suggestion.

reactions are dictated solely by Washington, Washington orders, Churchill obeys."

The fact that Germany is now on the defensive was noted by Lord Halifax as a most encouraging sign. However, he warned against over-optimism.

"We have a long way still to go," he said. "We have heavy fighting in front of us. But if, by the end of this year, we have secured the whole coast of North Africa, we shall indeed have done a great thing."

The ambassador vigorously defended Britain's position in respect to the empire, and said that if India had wanted independence, it could have achieved it through proposals made last summer by Sir Stafford Cripps. He asserted that the proposals were rejected "because the various Indian parties were unable to reach agreement among themselves."

"I am proud of what men of my race have done over long years for millions of people throughout the world," he added. "The British commonwealth has been one of the greatest unifying forces the world has seen."

AUTO STRIKES PARKED TRUCK; DRIVER UNHURT

Damage was done to the automobile of Hugh Clark, Jr., Kingston Route 1, at midnight Monday when the vehicle struck the rear end of the parked Ford truck of John Duval, Ashville Route 1. The accident happened on Route 56 at the Adelphi road intersection.

Deputy Vern Pontious reported that Duval, hauling coal from southern Ohio, had experienced tire trouble and had parked his truck at the intersection while he went to Laurelville for help. Clark, returning home after attending a skating party in Laurelville, said that Duval had parked without a tail light and that he hadn't seen the parked vehicle until too late.

Clark, riding alone, escaped injury.

CITY CHILDREN RAP JAPANESE ON ANNIVERSARY

High street school pupils remembered the Pearl Harbor attack's first anniversary Monday by putting $116 into Uncle Sam's treasury to help fight the axis.

Miss Peggy Parks, school principal, said that children of all ages and in all grades put their money into stamps Monday and Tuesday as well in a special anniversary sales effort.

Schools each Tuesday conduct stamp sales.

No special effort was made in schools of the city to boost the stamp and bond sales beyond their usual purchases. J. Wray Henry, high school principal, said that pupils of the five upper grades bought $61.95 worth of stamps in Tuesday's sale. This total was a little above normal.

Americans Believed Able To Balk Enemy Plans At Guadalcanal

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—American land, sea and air attacks on Japanese communication lines and bases in the Solomons and other Pacific war theatres today are gradually weakening Nippon's hold on its invasion outposts.

Frequent air raids on Jap supply ships are being carried out in the Guadalcanal area, where American forces have crushed every enemy attempt to reinforce his isolated garrison on that island.

In New Guinea and also the Aleutians, American Army planes are battering Japanese who have been clinging precariously to footholds in both of those war zones.

The Navy was expected to announce further sinkings of Japanese ships in the South Pacific as the result of submarine attacks on supply lines as well as aerial blows by Army, Navy and Marine Corps planes.

Enemy Ships Hit

Still unreported were results of a dive-bomber and torpedo plane attack against enemy ships 150 miles northwest of Guadalcanal December 3.

The fact that submarines now are operating somewhere in the Solomons area was disclosed by Undersecretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal in a speech at the launching of the powerful new battleship New Jersey in Philadelphia.

TOKYO ADMITS ALLIES GAINING WAR STRENGTH

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Japan, seeking to encourage its workers to greater efforts, today admitted in a broadcast recorded by the FCC that the United States and Britain had vastly increased their power to wage war and are embarked on a general counter-attack.

"At present the enemy, America and Britain, after one year of war, have at least prepared a real structure for war," a Tokyo broadcast to the empire said.

"They are mobilizing material and personnel resources, which are the greatest weapons for the Japanese and are busily engaged in a general counter-attack during the coming second year of the war."

"All the people of the nation, united, must boldly fight through the second year of the holy war."

EDUCATORS CHOSEN AS ASSEMBLY DELEGATES

Reds Ask Speed

The Soviet government proposed that war criminals be tried immediately after they are captured without awaiting the end of the war. The United States and Britain, however, felt that such a method would be impractical, since it might lead to axis reprisals against innocent allied war prisoners.

Britain favors an agreement among the allies on procedure, including the type of tribunal before which the accused axis individuals should be tried in accordance with the principles of international law.

So far, there has been no move by the American government to place the names of axis leaders, such as Hitler, Mussolini or the Japanese warlords, on the war crimes list. The view prevails in American quarters that there is no need to accumulate evidence concerning their responsibility for war crimes.

FRENCH FASCIST CHIEF BLASTS PIERRE LAVAL

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Jacques Doriot, leader of the French Fascist People's Party and mentioned as a possible successor of Pierre Laval, has made a violent attack against the Vichy chief of government and extorted the people of France to revolt against the Vichy regime, it was reported today.

The tirade against Laval, according to a report received by the OWI, was made in a speech at Paris and an account dispatched to a Swedish newspaper.

Doriot was said to have told his pro-axis followers on Saturday that recent events in France had resulted in a "catastrophe" worse than mere defeat. Laval, he charged, did little to stop developments that led to the scuttling of the French fleet at Toulon.

MOBILE UNIT MAY COME HERE TO GAIN BLOOD

Opportunity will soon be provided for Pickaway countians to help build the big Red Cross blood bank, Carl C. Leist, Red Cross chairman, said Tuesday when he announced that John Wenrich, field executive of the organization, would meet Wednesday at 3 p. m. with the county Red Cross executive committee to discuss the program.

Since Columbus is the central point for building the blood bank, Leist said, many Circleville and Pickaway county residents do not feel like traveling to the capital city to donate their blood to the war cause. Red Cross is working out a system whereby a mobile unit will be sent to various parts of the state to provide facilities for collecting blood for the bank.

Leist has called the executive committee to meet with Mr. Wenrich to map plans for the visit of the mobile unit to this city. The committee will meet in Red Cross headquarters, West Main street.

ALMANAC PROPHECY

PEOPLE who have been worrying about the fate of the world, in this big war crisis, may be reassured by the venerable English publication, "Old Moore's Almanac." It has been forecasting weather and human events for nearly 300 years, and probably deserves a hearing by the mere fact of its survival in such a risky business. The outlook is surprisingly optimistic. Boiled down, it runs as follows.

It will be a great year for the United Nations. In January they will start a successful offensive against the Germans and Italians. Germany's air power will be broken in February. Uncle Sam will get a setback in the Pacific, but the Chinese will invade Japan and the free Italians will maul Mussolini. In April the Russians and Poles will enter Poland. General excitement and oratory will ensue on all fronts.

The British will recover Singapore in May, and in June France will be freed and Germany will seek an armistice and Italy will quit. Russia will be rid of the Nazis by July. Hitler will disappear permanently in August. Britain will then be returning to normal. The Jap navy will be licked in September and Hirohito will give up. In October the United Nations will occupy Berlin and everything will be swell.

Isn't it a wonderful dream? Now you tell one!

WAR CRIMINAL

WHEN the war is won, the head of the German Gestapo should be tried for the murder of half the Jewish population of Poland, says J. David Belman, president of the National Council of Young Israel. There is merit in the idea. Too often barbarities in war have gone unpunished because of uncertainty as to who should be blamed. In the case of the Gestapo there can be no doubt. It is a body created specially to commit bloody deeds. Its head is certainly responsible.

Herr Himmler would plead the necessity of obeying orders from above, probably from Hitler himself. That need not deter the United Nations. They should have no difficulty in setting up enough tribunals to try, in due time, the chief Nazi criminals.

You might not realize how many people are worrying about how they would get along if they only had $25,000 left after paying their taxes.

As for that man Kaiser on the West Coast, you might think there was a conspiracy to keep shipbuilders from building ships.

The stork, too, is making a great record this year.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

WASHINGTON.—Fuehrer Hitler's overthrow by Germany's own professional military class is hinted at as a possibility in confidential reports from the Fatherland.

According to these accounts, the German military class didn't like Hitler.

They're an aristocratic group, and Nazism, regardless of its faults, isn't that. It's dictatorial, but it's socialistic and plebeian. Adolf's own paper—hanging origin tells the story. He was a non-hereditary nabob, with a "von" in front of his name, which originally wasn't Hitler, either, but some weird Teutonic monicker like Schickelgruber that even official-reference works don't profess to be very sure of.

However, besides being traditionally Kaiseristic and nobility-worshipping, the Germans always have had a decidedly radical socio-economic bunch like him. It's been characteristic of maybe a mass

Adolf, taking advantage of this sentiment, slid in, in the midst of a fearful national crisis, and the militarists had to make the best of it. If, having started the war, he'd made satisfactory and reasonably rapid progress toward victory, the military gang would remain in line behind him, unquestionably. In fact, he did succeed in holding 'em in tow while he apparently was making a tolerably good showing.

If he hasn't met with actual reverses now, though, at least his campaign's lagging.

Bleak Outlook
He isn't getting anywhere in Russia. He's in bad shape in North Africa. His showing at and under sea has frayed out. His ally, Italy, is disintegrating. He's failed to catch Spain as he'd hoped. Japan, except on its own account, doesn't care a hoot for him.

And, of course, everybody knows how he's hated in the countries he has overrun, France included.

Moreover, he's hoped for sympathy, at worst, in Latin America, and he hasn't had that, except in a couple of republics which haven't broken relations or declared war against him.

The dope, then, is that the tony Germans not only didn't approve of Adolf initially but regard him a frost in outright action. He's had a bit of the worst of the genuine fighting and is due for more of it. He's been diplomatically outmaneuvered. And there's the suspicion that he's lost some of his following with the rank-and-file of Germans.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

F.D.R. OVERRULED HULL

WASHINGTON — Ever since the War Department's announcement that Crown Prince Otto of Australia would head an Australian Legion recruited in the U.S.A., officials have been buck-passing as to who okayed this idea.

Unquestionably it was a sour one. Now nobody wants to take responsibility. The Yugoslavs are up in arms over having the heir to the throne of the Hapsburgs promoted by the U. S. Government. The Czechs also are in a dither.

And although Prince Otto is sincere, hard-working and personally likeable, there are not many Australians or Hungarians in the United States who want to go into battle under the banner of the old Hapsburg Empire.

Inside fact regarding the scheme is that canny Cordell Hull was sour on it from the first. Mr. Hull does not believe much in kings or emperors, also has a shrewd faculty for feeling the pulse of American public opinion. He turned thumbs down.

Several of his State Department advisers also were opposed. But not Brain Truster Adolf Borie, whose brain child the plan largely was.

However, the man who really put it across was FDR himself. He overruled Hull and decreed that Otto should have his chance to recruit an Austrian Legion.

DISCUSSIONS AT VATICAN

Since then, the Diplomatic Corps has been buzzing with reports regarding the recent conference between the Pope and Myron Taylor, U. S. Ambassador to the Vatican.

This conference was followed by the emphatic statement by the Catholic Archbishops and Bishops of the United States calling for unlimited support of the war. Issued by 102 members of the American hierarchy, it was one of the most sweeping endorsements of Roosevelt's war policies so far given by the Catholic Church. Ambassador Taylor's visit to the Vatican is generally linked with the Bishops' Letter.

The result of Taylor's discussions has never been divulged. But in diplomatic circles it is reported that he brought back to the President the Vatican's concern for the protection of the Church in Spain in case Spain should be a battleground between the American and German armies; also the hope that the Catholic monarchs of Europe might not be barred if the people of Europe wanted to reinstate them after the war.

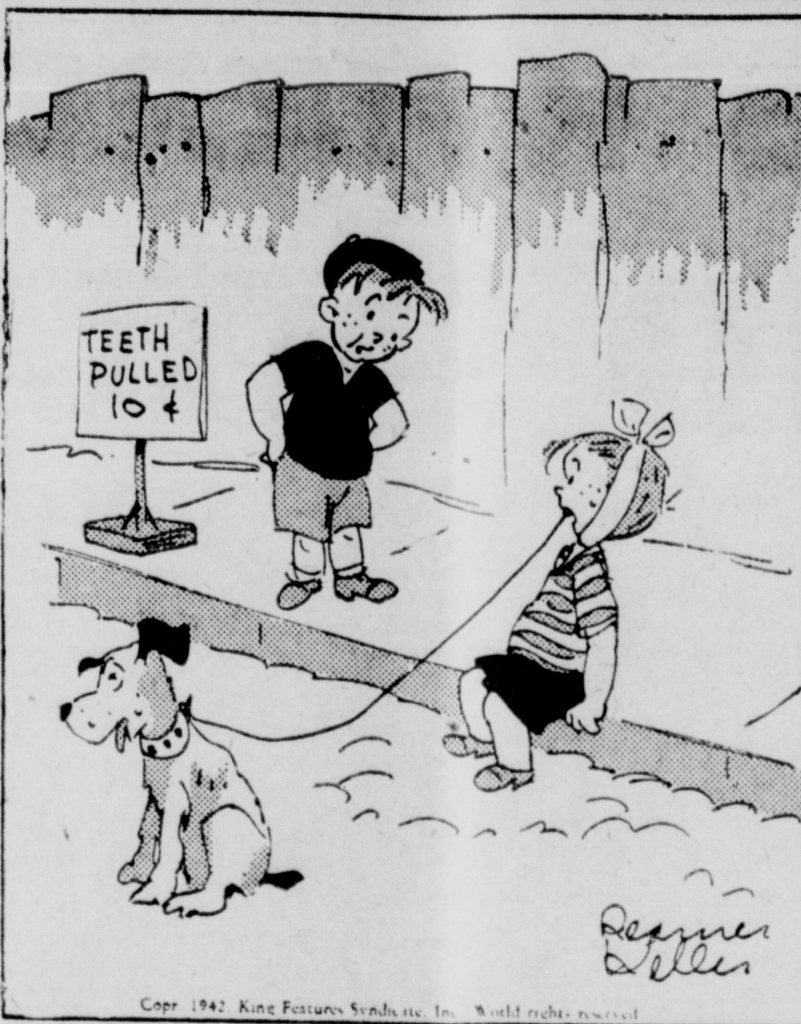

Note: Prince Otto is scion of one of the foremost Catholic royal families. Don Jaime, crown prince of Spain, is now exiled in Switzerland. The Count of Paris, pretender to the throne of France, is in Algeria. The grandson of the Kaiser, formerly employed in the Ford Motor Company in Detroit, and reported to have many friends in the United States, is now in Germany.

THE RED CROSS COMES THROUGH

The letter will not be made public, but Civil Defense Director James Landis has just written a polite but pointed note to American Red Cross Director Norman Davis regarding the hullabaloo which the Red Cross staged in sending blood plasma

Womanpower Shortage Of Army, Navy Nurses

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

ONE OF the most serious shortages in manpower that has presented itself to the country in the emergency is really a shortage of womanpower. All over the country hospitals are complaining that they are not getting enough nurses to fill their classes—even basing the number of students in the classes on a peacetime basis.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

At a meeting of the American Hospital Association this year one of the speakers said: "In the future the demand for nurses will be two or three times greater than it has ever been in the past."

Army and Navy requirements are tremendous and it is hard to give the exact figures on them. At the same meeting of the American Hospital Association one speaker stated that the Army and Navy would require 1,000 nurses a month in 1943, another speaker stated that the requirement would be 2,000, and still another, 3,000 a month. And finally, I find an authoritative statement that of the country's 300,000 women in white, 50,000 will be needed in the Army and Navy by July, 1943.

Causes of Shortage
Hospital authorities are frankly puzzled as to why this shortage should exist. Some of them believe that the superior attraction of the WAACS and WAVES has been so publicized that it has turned the attention of the young women from the less glamorous role of the nurse.

Still another explanation has been that the course is too long. I am inclined to believe there is a good deal to this objection and for the period of the emergency I think a year and a half instead of the present requirement of three years is quite enough to fit an intelligent young woman to take up the duties of a nurse.

Certainly the armed forces would benefit by getting more nurses sooner if the course were reduced to the one-and-one-half year period with an arrangement after the war is over to allow these nurses to complete their nursing course of three years. I understand that the National League of Nursing Education is contemplating a recommendation that the course be reduced to two and one-half years but in my opinion this is not enough of a reduction.

Great Demand

The Army, Navy and the Public Health Service will certainly need nurses for a period of at least five or ten years. Even if hostilities should cease in 1943 the Nursing Corps, with the Medical Corps, will probably be the last to be demobilized. This, of course, stands to reason and is perfectly natural because after hostilities have ceased there will be a number of wounded and convalescent men to be taken care of for months and years to come.

At the same time civilian hospitals have been increasing their demands for nursing and hospital personnel. Mr. Charles P. Taft is saying that 10 years ago hospital superintendents stated they needed 17,700 graduated nurses, 8,120 student nurses and 10,000 other persons giving nursing care. A recent survey of these same hospitals showed that they then employed 66,100 graduate nurses, 52,400 student nurses and 55,800 other persons giving nursing care.

If a campaign is needed to obtain the number of nurses the situation demands, let us get the campaign started at once!

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

T. J. B.:—Have cucumbers any food value? Is surgery the only cure for a varicocoe?

Answer: Cucumbers have very little food value: about one-half of one per cent protein; one-fifth of one per cent fat; two and one-half per cent carbohydrates and produce 14 cal. per 100 grams but they are valuable for roughage. Surgery is the only cure for varicocoe.

Embattled Love

BY LORENA CARLETON
WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

SYNOPSIS

A chance meeting in the San Francisco fog leads to a spur-of-the-moment marriage in Reno by PAIGE SHELTON, whose sweetheart has just been killed fighting for the Allies, and RESTWICK (RUSTY) CARNES III, wealthy descendant of early Hawaiian settlers. Rusty marries to spite the girl he thinks he loves. EUGENIA NORTH, his selfish fiancée.

YESTERDAY: Paige suddenly realizes that, probably because of their mutual unhappiness, she likes being with Rusty.

CHAPTER TEN
TWENTY-FOUR hours later Paige and Rusty leaned on the rail of the Mazatlan watching it leave Los Angeles harbor. Passengers had lazied the entire day while workmen loaded the ship. Now all the ropes and cables had been released and the vessel had begun that swiveling that is imperceptible until one looks directly beneath at the water.

Paige said, "I've always wanted to see someone miss a boat and I think I'm going to right now."

Restwick Carnes trailed her gaze to a half-dozen men standing on the pier. "I hardly think they've missed it. I think the captain will shove back for them and I think there's a good reason. I'm pretty sure they are federal investigators."

When Rusty's remark struck Paige's ears she drew away from the rail, then walked still farther back on the lanai. Her forehead lifted in a distressed fashion.

"What makes you think they are federal investigators?"

"Because I'm wise like an owl." Paige's retort was fully as irrelevant. "An owl is not wise. It merely wears a pontifical cap that makes it appear learned, like a bishop or a judge."

Rusty interrupted her speech that was of no pertinence and strangely breathless, for some reason. "That is neither here nor there. Let the owl worry about that." He leaned still farther out over the rail. "It looks," he reported, "as if they're going to put down an emergency gang-plant, so I know it is someone of importance."

"But you don't know they are federal agents."

The girl's persistence caused Rusty to turn around and regard her with a confused glance. "Naturally I don't know that, but I'm pretty darned sure. Heaven knows they look the part. I think I know one of the men. And besides, there is something cooking on this boat."

Paige asked quickly, "What do you mean?"

"Some sort of crooked work. I've made the trip to the islands at least a dozen times on this same ship and I know most of the crew well enough to get in on most of the dirt."

Paige's reply was spiteful. "You mean from bartenders and saloon stewards?"

"What difference does it make who is my grapevine system so long as I have one? A grapevine is very important, my child. They have them everywhere. From palaces to prisons." The girl's disconcerted white face caused him to stop and exclaim, "What's the matter with you?"

"I don't like trouble on board."

"Don't be silly. It's exciting. You know they've had a 'No Visitors' rule while we've been in port. It's been a difficult procedure to go ashore, too. And I'd swear I was followed this afternoon when I did get off. I went into all the waterfront dives and the same guy trailed me into everyone of them."

He grinned as he turned back to look down the side of the ship. "We probably have either fifth columnists or thieves on board."

"Thieves?" echoed the girl in a faltering voice.

Restwick Carnes stated, "The crime of crime in some line or they wouldn't be putting a bunch of investigators on board. Golly, but it takes a lot of expert wiggling and prodding to get one of these babies back to pier." He had been watching the maneuvers beneath them, but now he turned again to his wife and exclaimed, "Come on over. Maybe," he added with joyful anticipation, "someone will fall splunk on his face in the ocean. Come on over," he repeated, and made his invitation imperative by reaching out and pulling her over beside him.

Still she did not lean over the railing as Rusty was doing. She remained upright, even bending backward a bit. All the same, she had a view of the activity detaining their sailing. Undeniably the men were important. Clothed in somber colors, their actions were equally serious. There was an assuredness about them that drew attention. Although they must have felt the scrutiny of dozens of passengers, they never once glanced up.

They simply stood, untalkative and practically motionless, while waiting for the captain to coerce his vessel into an oblique position alongside the pier. An ominous huddle, those men, thought Paige and, for some unaccountable reason, shivered.

"They're opening up the loading doors."

Rusty's remark brought Paige nearer. She peered over his shoulder and watched a small wooden plank being fitted from the low wharf into the cabin of the lower regions of the boat. Still the men were not permitted aboard until a ship's officer had demanded their legal papers and given them a thorough examination.

Restwick Carnes' voice held disappointment. "I still wish they had tried to jump it or come up a rope ladder. We'd have had some real action."

The girl shook her dark head and managed to make a little clucking noise of grandmotherly chastisement. "Poor lad. You must have led a thwarted childhood. You should have seen more custard pie comedies."

Her raillery brought no response. The procedure that had held them up suddenly was over. The six plainly dressed men had filed on board and the wooden bridge was being tugged away.

Rusty said, "I'm going out for a while to do some expert snooping." He leaped instantly from his point of vantage and headed for the outdoor door.

When it slammed behind him Paige turned swiftly as if to follow, then stopped and stood unmoved. The momentary impulse that had made her start after her husband deserted her as quickly as it had begun. She knew she had not really wanted to go along. She didn't want to find out what was going on. She didn't want anything to be going on. Some premonition told her that.

She was beginning to know more and more how much the tranquility of the previous evening had meant to her. Though it had not lasted long, she had treasured it and still was treasuring it by retrospection. She felt bewildered, and a bit impatient with herself. What did she really want? Flurry and excitement, as she had stated, or contentment such as she had found in that quiet hour with Restwick Carnes?

There had been a quality about it that had given her, not happiness naturally, but she had felt—Paige fumbled mentally for a word. Protected. That was the word. That was how she had felt. She glanced into the dressing table mirror and saw a funny little grin tugging at one side of her mouth. And why not? After years of having protected herself, grimly at times, the idea of being impressed with a man's protection did afford mirth.

Still impatient, she shrugged, but she could not shrug away thoughts of Rusty Carnes. More and more he took her attention, no matter how much she resented it. She walked out onto the lanai and leaned over the rail again, trying to analyze and reproach her own mind. She knew it was not love. It had been love with Denison, a violent, gnawing love. She knew what love was.

Perhaps this gratitude for Restwick Carnes was merely gratitude, for she did feel grateful. He had saved her many a bad moment, both with sudden and idiotic action and his bickering. It was helpful just to lose herself in a fight with him and forget other things. Yes, undeniably they helped each other. But not so much, she chastened herself, that she should listen for his footsteps.

Yet when she did hear them pounding across the bedroom floor and onto the lanai, she whirled and stood waiting with a mingled feeling of relief and welcome. She had not liked being alone. And she hoped he would not leave her alone again.

"Boy, are things popping?" he exclaimed. "The wife of the Brazilian diplomat right across from us has had a batch of jewels stolen."

"So that's what has been causing all the Portuguese chatter?"

That was all Paige said, but she suddenly sat down as if too weak to stand. And the expression on her pale features was strange, so strange that Restwick Carnes found himself staring at her.

He had to understand that peculiar look on the face of his wife. For a brief moment he tried to solve it himself. Then he queried roughly, in a tone scarcely that of a bridegroom. "What the devil is the matter with you?"

Today's Horoscope
Today's birthday children are affectionate, sincere, eloquent in speech and moderately ambitious. They have enough natural talent to accomplish great things, but lack concentration and tenacity. Literature and travel interest them. They should choose ardent mates. A happy, fortunate year is in store for them. Business, social and love affairs and travel will prove successful, so forge ahead in all your plans. Much success and popularity will be met by the child who is born on this date. He or she will achieve recognition early through their own courageous endeavors, initiative and charm of manner. This is a fortunate birthday.

Christmas Party Given By Von Bora Society

Special Music Is Feature Of Program

More than 70 members and guests enjoyed the delightful pre-Christmas party of the Von Bora society Monday in the parish house. Masses of Christmas greens and many candles were used in the beautiful decorations of the dining room where an excellent dinner was served at 7:30 p. m.

Bands of green centered the long tables where the guests were seated, places being marked with favors of red and green filled with candies. Centerpieces of evergreens had trailing vines to the candles at either end.

The room was centered with two trees, decorated in blue and silver, under which were the many gifts taken by the guests for the Benevolent association's Christmas baskets.

The program featured Christmas music and included group singing of carols; a carol sung by Ruth Troutman; violin and piano selections by Vera Zaenglein and Ruth Esther Blum; carols on violin and xylophone by Miss Zaenglein and Miss Blum, and a solo by Mrs. Dudley Carpenter to this accompaniment.

Mrs. James Carpenter read interesting stories of the origin of Christmas carols.

During the business session conducted by Miss Catherine Fischer, president, Mrs. Frank Turner read the Christmas story from St. Luke 2. Letters of thanks were read for the Christmas boxes sent by the society to a retired minister and to a pastor's widow.

Annual election of officers resulted in Miss Lottie Walters being chosen vice president; Mrs. Gilbert Edgington, secretary, and Mrs. Erma Fox, assistant; Mrs. Carl Leist, treasurer, and Mrs. Alice Sennbrenner, assistant. The president will be elected later.

Monday Club—Mrs. Frank B. Morrison presented an interesting paper, on the subject "Without Bound, Without Dimension—the Pacific," Monday at the regular meeting of the Monday club in the library trustees' room, Memorial hall. The paper continued the study of the year topic, "The Sea"; with the program in charge of the Geography Division, Miss Margaret Mattinson, chairman.

Mrs. Howard Newell Stevenson conducted the opening business session. Mrs. Charles H. May, chairman of the Bazaar committee, presented Mrs. L. S. Mader who read the report of the committee including the announcement that the affair would be held in March.

Sale of articles made by the blind was conducted at the meeting. Mrs. C. T. Gilmore was chairman and Mrs. David Harman, co-chairman, of the committee comprised of Mrs. Ione Reichelderfer, Mrs. Tom Armstrong and Miss Alice A. May.

Mrs. Morrison in her paper discussed the immensity of the Pacific saying, "From the Americas to Asia in the oldest, deepest and bluest sea lies half the world, the Pacific. The ocean is so huge that it takes the sun nine full hours to cross its widest stretch; its greatest depth is the Philippine Deep where the ocean floor drops 354,000 feet. In addition to its vastness, there are two outstanding features of the Pacific, the almost unbroken mass of mountains running from Alaska to the tip of South America, and on the other side of the ocean, the mainlands of Asia and Australia are marked by lines of islands which are the tops of sunken mountain ranges. These islands stretch from the Aleutian Islands through the islands of the Japanese Empire, the Philippines, East Indies, New Guinea, and are continued by those ranging from the Solomons through the New Hebrides to New Zealand."

Mrs. Morrison told of the people living in Australia, New Zealand, North and South America, saying more and more of European nationality than any other. People of smaller islands have dark skins, dark eyes and woolly hair. Some Japanese and Chinese have settled on these islands.

She touched on the trade and travel relations between North America and the far East and the Pacific Islands. As early as 75 years ago Senator William H. Seward said that "The Pacific Ocean, its shores, its islands and the vast regions beyond will become the chief theatre of events in the world's greatest hereafter."

The Pacific must be considered in terms of airways, not because ocean liners and freighters are going out of commission, but because the air is the swiftest medium of transportation.

Concluding her paper, Mrs. Morrison said, "In whatever light you look at the Pacific, as the third great center of civilization, or as a vast ocean over which commercial planes of the 20th century will wing their way, or as a fighting arena for the planes and battleships of the Occident and Orient,

ASHVILLE

The receiving of surplus auto tires seems to be enjoying a closed season now, none having been received at the local express office for several days, Roy Smith, agent, told us yesterday. Up to this date, about 700 tires have been received and shipped out from the local office.

The Young People's class of the Methodist church composed of a couple dozen or more, will, Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, hold a Christmas gift exchange party at the home of Malcomb and Mrs. Rathburn. No gift in cost to exceed ten cents.

All units of the Ashville Civil Defense organization went into real action yesterday when the local fire alarm siren sounded its shrill tones at exactly 12:25 o'clock, the time one year ago that the Japs bombed Pearl Harbor slaughtering near 3,000 of American seamen. The wardens, fire watchers, messengers, auxiliary police and firemen were at their several posts in less time than it takes to tell about it and performed their duties splendidly. A few who had post assignments could not be present because of being employed in war work jobs. Mayor Hines, by virtue of his office, was at the head of planning and putting this defense drill into action and to say that he was just plain pleased with it all, would be putting it mildly. We're all agreed that it could not have been better.

Pfc. S. E. Duvall has arrived safely overseas according to a communication from the War Department received by Mrs. S. E. Duvall of Marion and his parents, W. A. and Mrs. Duvall of here. He is a member of the U. S. army air corps.

According to advance plans of Postmaster Smith and his assistants, Robert Welch and Clark Cline, to dispatch and receive mail on the Sundays immediately preceding Christmas, is all working out fine with first class mail in the lead to date. This will continue through the 13th and 20th Sunday dates.

While in part of last year's vintage, but with some new trimmings and background setting, Old Santa and his speedster reindeer at the Ashville Bank window, present just what they are intended to do—the spirit of the Christmas season. And it is all indeed good. This is easily proven by any four or five year old. Saw a toy yesterday evening admiring this Santa display and believed all that Pop and Mom was telling about the old man.

The local K. of P. Lodge will hold second nomination and election of officers for the coming year Wednesday, December 9, at 8 p. m. There will also be balloting on candidates for the Grand Lodge. All past chancellors are entitled to vote on officers of the Grand Lodge. All members are urged to attend this important meeting. Ed Irwin, Chancellor.

Corporal George Coon arrived home Thursday last week, and is spending a 15 day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Coon of Walnut township.

This is George's first visit home since joining the Army Air Force last April.

During this time he has satisfactorily completed the courses prescribed for both Radio and Airplane maintenance. He is now stationed at Ellington Field Texas.

EDWARD ARNOLD

From Hollywood on Monday, December 14, Cavalcade of America will present Edward Arnold starring as the fabulous Daniel Webster in "The Man Who Wouldn't Be President," an original story by Hector Chevigny telling of the first great step of an American toward peace with Canada and England.

ABBOTT AND COSTELLO

Parade of stars has begun with Abbott and Costello the latest to be added to the lineup for the Christmas broadcast over the Columbia network from 4 to 6. The two-hour show will salute service men and their families.

Already announced for this show are Don Ameche as master-of-ceremonies, Bob Hope and Bette Davis, with Louis Silvers as musical director. Many more names are yet to come and the entire lineup is expected to be set within the next few days.

FOUR STARS LISTED

Jinx Falkenburg, No. 1 magazine cover girl; Cliff Edwards, well-known character actor of the films; comedian Richard Haydn and Helen O'Connell, soloist with Jimmy Dorsey's Orchestra, will be Bing Crosby's guests in the Music Hall, Thursday, December 10 at 9 p. m. over NBC.

Bing will sing "This Is the Army, Mr. Jones," "Every Night About This Time," "Bye, Bye Blackbird," "There Are Such Things" and "Daybreak."

RADIO BRIEFS

Monte Woolley enacts the leading role in "I Escaped from Hong Kong," adapted from the book of the same name by Jan Herick Marsman, when it is presented on the "Treasury Star Parade" during the week of December 14.

Isabel Manning Hewson's "Morning Market Basket" on the Blue network daily gets a new organist, Charles Paul, identified with several other major airings. He starts this week.

William L. Shirer, the CBS Sunday newscaster, will be a guest on "Information, Please," over NBC December 11.

When CBS broadcasts "Notes at Random," the second in a series of four Norman Corwin dramas based on observations in England, Tuesday at 10 p. m., original dramatic music again will be composed and conducted by Lyn Murray. Murray did the score for the first in the series, "Cromer."

WITH LOCAL BOYS UNDER THE FLAG

December 11 is the birthday anniversary of Private First Class Nelson H. Sweyer, his address is Base Ordnance office, Bradley field, Conn.

Aviation Cadet Jack P. White of Squadron B, Group 7, Maxwell field, Ala., has returned to his station after attending the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Clyde White.

Private First Class Fenton L. Boltenhouse has a birthday anniversary December 28. His address is ASN 35031947, Company C, 5th medical detachment, APO 5, care of postmaster, New York.

Corporal Roy Dunkle of Keesler field, Biloxi, Miss., is home on a 15-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dunkle, Pickaway township.

Private First Class Lowell Hulse of San Diego, Cal., and his mother, Mrs. James Hulse of Columbus, formerly of Jackson township, are visiting friends and relatives in the Circleville community. Mrs. Hulse said that another son attending a movie had seen his brother, Private Shirley Hulse, among soldiers preparing to go ashore in the assault on French North Africa. Mrs. Hulse said she had not known where he was located until the brother saw Shirley in the motion picture.

Private Orpheus Chaffin, son of Mrs. J. W. Speakman of Circleville Route 2, has been assigned from Atlantic City, N. J., aviation training school to Flight A, 927th TSS, Barracks 917, U. S. Army air corps, Jefferson Barracks, Mo.

Private Myrl F. Collins of Darbyville sends as his new address: Company C, 33rd battalion, MSCRTC, Camp Crowder, Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. Coit Wilson of near Commercial Point have received official notification from the government that their son, Sergeant Earl E. Wilson, has arrived safely overseas.

The Ray plan also provides for registration of interested persons who could qualify to teach by September, 1943, by taking short courses during the year or during the summer.

The army has called many Ohio teachers, but the state chief said many have also left for positions in war industries. He pointed especially to science teachers.

"Unless a large number of additional teachers can be provided for schools from the ranks of former teachers or from those who had not planned to teach, the schools of Ohio will suffer seriously during the next year," Mr. Ray declared.

OAKLEY WARNER CHOSEN LEADER OF PYTHIANS

Installation of new officers of Philos lodge Knights of Pythias will be conducted January 4, the new staff being named Monday evening at the annual election. The new official staff includes Oakley Warner, chancellor commander; Francis Clark, vice chancellor; George C. Marion, prelate; Robert S. Denman, master of work; Charles Fellers, master of the exchequer; Orville S. Barr, master of finance; S. Lawrence Warner, keeper of records and seals; Ralph Delong, master of arms; Glenn Skinner, inner guard; Clarence Radcliff, outer guard; Charles B. Stoffer, pianist; T. M. Glick, trustee for three years.

Robert S. Denman was named grand lodge representative and John Bolender was chosen the alternate.

An interesting letter was received from Captain E. L. Montgomery, a member of the lodge who is now in Pacific duty. He wrote that among Circleville youths with him are Dick Mills, Clarence Marshall, Ned Plum and Billy Kellstadt.

The ingredients meet the highest standards of purity and flavor that are held by good cooks everywhere.

That Extra Something!

...You can spot it every time

ABILITY to do an extra job takes an extra something. A Coca-Cola has it. There are many things for thirst but Coca-Cola does far more than just quench thirst. It brings you a unique taste you enjoy... and unique refreshment you feel.

In the making of Coca-Cola, there's a finished art that comes from a lifetime of practice. It takes the skill of 57 years of "know how" in blending certain special flavor-essences with all the other ingredients to produce an original unique taste all its own... you never tire of. It never cloy.

You and your thirst could ask for nothing more than ice-cold Coca-Cola. Because ice-cold Coca-Cola is the real thing in refreshment. It's all refreshment... pure refreshment.

Wartime limits the supply of Coca-Cola. Those times when you cannot get it, remember: Coke, being first choice, sells out first. Ask for it each time. No matter how short the supply, the quality of Coca-Cola carries on.

The best is always the better buy!

In wartimes, less Coca-Cola is available than before. But there's still enough for many a refreshing pause. Ice-cold Coca-Cola with food is always welcomed by family and friends alike.

Christmas Party Given
By Von Bora Society

Special Music
Is Feature Of Program

More than 70 members and guests enjoyed the delightful pre-Christmas party of the Von Bora society Monday in the parish house. Masses of Christmas greens and many candles were used in the beautiful decorations of the dining room where an excellent dinner was served at 7:30 p. m.

Bands of green centered the long tables where the guests were seated, places being marked with favors of red and green filled with candies. Centerpieces of evergreens had trailing vines to the all candles at either end.

The room was centered with twin trees, decorated in blue and silver, under which were the many gifts taken by the guests for the Benevolent association's Christmas baskets.

The program featured Christmas music and included group singing of carols; a carol sung by Ruth Troutman; violin and piano selections by Vera Zaenglein and Ruth Esther Blum; carols on violin and xylophone by Miss Zaenglein and Miss Blum, and a solo by Mrs. Dudley Carpenter to this accompaniment.

Mrs. James Carpenter read interesting stories of the origin of Christmas carols.

During the business session conducted by Miss Catherine Fischer, president, Mrs. Frank Turner read the Christmas story from St. Luke 2. Letters of thanks were read for the Christmas boxes sent by the society to a retired minister and to a pastor's widow.

Annual election of officers resulted in Miss Lottie Walters being chosen vice president; Mrs. Gilbert Edgington, secretary, and Mrs. Erma Fox, assistant; Mrs. Carl Leist, treasurer, and Mrs. Alice Sensenbrenner, assistant. The president will be elected later.

Monday Club
Mrs. Frank B. Morrison presented an interesting paper, on the subject "Without Bound, Without Dimension—the Pacific," Monday at the regular meeting of the Monday club in the Library Trustees' room, Memorial hall. The paper continued the study of the year topic, "The Sea"; with the program in charge of the Geography Division, Miss Margaret Mattinson, chairman.

Mrs. Howard Newell Stevenson conducted the opening business session. Mrs. Charles H. May, chairman of the Bazaar committee, presented Mrs. L. S. Mader who read the report of the committee including the announcement that the affair would be held in March.

Sale of articles made by the blind was conducted at the meeting. Mrs. C. T. Gilmore was chairman and Mrs. David Harman, co-chairman, of the committee comprised of Mrs. Ione Reichelderfer, Mrs. Tom Armstrong and Miss Alice A. May.

Mrs. Morrison in her paper discussed the immensity of the Pacific saying, "From the Americas to Asia in the oldest, deepest and bluest sea lies half the world, the Pacific. The ocean is so huge that it takes the sun nine full hours to cross its widest stretch; its greatest depth is the Philippine Deep where the ocean floor drops 354,000 feet. In addition to its vastness, there are two outstanding features of the Pacific, the almost unbroken mass of mountains running from Alaska to the tip of South America, and on the other side of the ocean, the mainlands of Asia and Australia are marked by lines of islands which are the tops of sunken mountain ranges. These islands stretch from the Aleutian Islands through the islands of the Japanese Empire, the Philippines, East Indies, New Guinea, and are continued by those ranging from the Solomons through the New Hebrides to New Zealand."

Mrs. Morrison told of the people living in Australia, New Zealand, North and South America, saying more are of European nationality than any other. People of smaller islands have dark skins, dark eyes and woolly hair. Some Japanese and Chinese have settled on these islands.

She touched on the trade and travel relations between North America and the far East and the Pacific Islands. As early as 75 years ago Senator William H. Seward said that "The Pacific Ocean, its shores, its islands and the vast regions beyond will become the chief theatre of events in the world's greatest hereafter."

The Pacific must be considered in terms of airways, not because ocean liners and freighters are going out of commission, but because the air is the swiftest medium of transportation.

Concluding her paper, Mrs. Morrison said, "In whatever light you look at the Pacific, as the third great center of civilization, or as a vast ocean over which commercial planes of the 20th century will wing their way, or as a fighting arena for the planes and battleships of the Occident and Orient,

GYPSY ROSE LEE
Gypsy Rose Lee, the strip-tease queen and authoress, will appear as a guest on the Al Jolson program Tuesday at 8:30 p. m., CBS. Gypsy will be the foil for Al's comedy gags on his Tuesday night variety show and will add to the half-hour funnest that features songstress Carol Bruce, funnyman Parkyakarkus, and Ray Bloch's orchestra.

Gypsy Rose recently panicked the American public, who knew her only as the first lady of burlesque, by turning out two best-sellers, "The G-String Murders" and "Mother Finds a Body."

December 11 is the birthday anniversary of Private First Class Nelson H. Sweyer. His address is Base Ordnance office, Bradley field, Conn.

Aviation Cadet Jack P. White of Squadron B, Group 7, Maxwell field, Ala., has returned to his station after attending the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Clyde White.

Private First Class Fenton L. Boltenhouse has a birthday anniversary December 28. His address is ASN 35031947, Company C, 5th medical detachment, APO 5, care of postmaster, New York.

Corporal Roy Dunkle of Keeler field, Biloxi, Miss., is home on a 15-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dunkle, Pickaway township.

Private First Class Lowell Hulise of San Diego, Cal., and his mother, Mrs. James Hulise of Columbus, formerly of Jackson township, are visiting friends and relatives in the Circleville community. Mrs. Hulise said that another son attending a movie had seen his brother, Private Shirley Hulise, among soldiers preparing to go ashore in the assault on French North Africa. Mrs. Hulise said she had not known where he was located until the brother saw Shirley in the motion picture.

Private Orpheus Chaffin, son of Mrs. J. W. Speakman of Circleville Route 2, has been assigned from Atlantic City, N. J., aviation training school to Flight A, 927th TSS, Barracks 917, U. S. Army air corps, Jefferson Barracks, Mo.

Private Myrl F. Collins of Darbyville sends as his new address: Company C, 33rd battalion, MSCRTC, Camp Crowder, Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. Coit Wilson of near Commercial Point have received official notification from the government that their son, Sergeant Earl E. Wilson, has arrived safely overseas.

INSTRUCTORS OF STATE ARE TO BE REGISTERED
Registration of teacher manpower in Ohio in an effort to relieve a fast-growing shortage is being planned for the week of December 14 under direction of the state department of education.

Neither George D. McDowell, superintendent of county schools, nor Frank Fischer, superintendent of Circleville schools, has received any information concerning the registration. Kenneth C. Ray, state director, announced the registration plan Monday.

"All unemployed teachers," Ray said, "who might be interested in returning to the classroom will register so that they will be available for positions now vacant and those which are anticipated during the remainder of the school year."

The Ray plan also provides for registration of interested persons who could qualify to teach by September, 1943, by taking short courses during the year or during the summer.

The army has called many Ohio teachers, but the state chief said many have also left for positions in war industries. He pointed especially to science teachers.

"Unless a large number of additional teachers can be provided for schools from the ranks of former teachers or from those who had not planned to teach, the schools of Ohio will suffer seriously during the next year," Mr. Ray declared.

When CBS broadcasts "Notes at Random," the second in a series of four Norman Corwin dramas based on observations in England, Tuesday at 10 p. m., original dramatic music again will be composed and conducted by Lyn Murray. Murray did the score for the first in the series, "Cromer."

OAKLEY WARNER
CHOSEN LEADER OF PYTHIANS

Installation of new officers of Philos lodge Knights of Pythias will be conducted January 4, the new staff being named Monday evening at the annual election. The new official staff includes Oakley Warner, chancellor commander; Francis Clark, vice chancellor; George C. Marlon, prelate; Robert S. Denman, master of work; Charles Fellers, master of the exchequer; Orville E. Barr, master of finance; S. Lawrence Warner, keeper of records and seals; Ralph Delong, master of arms; Glenn Skinner, inner guard; Clarence Radcliff, outer guard; Charles B. Stofor, pianist; T. M. Glick, trustee for three years.

Robert S. Denman was named grand lodge representative and John Bolender was chosen the alternate.

An interesting letter was received from Captain E. L. Montgomery, a member of the lodge who is now in Pacific duty. He wrote that among Circleville youths with him are Dick Mills, Clarence Marshall, Ned Plum and Billy Kellstadt.

That Extra Something!
...You can spot it every time

ABILITY to do an extra job takes an extra something. A Coca-Cola has it. There are many things for thirst but Coca-Cola does far more than just quench thirst. It brings you a unique taste you enjoy... and unique refreshment you feel.

In the making of Coca-Cola, there's a finished art that comes from a lifetime of practice. It takes the skill of 57 years of "know how" in blending certain special flavor-essences with all the other ingredients to produce an original unique taste all its own... a taste you never tire of. It never cloy.

You and your thirst could ask for nothing more than ice-cold Coca-Cola. Because ice-cold Coca-Cola is the real thing in refreshment. It's all refreshment... pure refreshment.

War-time limits the supply of Coca-Cola. These times when you cannot get it, remember: Coke, being first choice, sells out first. Ask for it each time. No matter how short the supply, the quality of Coca-Cola carries on.

The Army Knows the Value of Dairy Products

We have a list of actual menus used by a United States Army Unit. We will submit one each week starting tonight for 21 weeks. From this list we learned about nutrition.

FRESH MILK

FRESH MILK was served to the boys at 18 out of 21 meals. Every single meal included at least 2 or 3 fresh dairy products.

MENU

July 31, 1942.

Breakfast

Bananas
Assorted dry cereals
Fresh milk
Fried eggs
Hot toast, butter, jam
Coffee, cream, sugar

If the nutrition experts in the United States Army find dairy products so vital to a soldier's health and stamina, mothers of growing children should find them equally important. Serve fresh, healthful Circle City Dairy Products at every meal.

Six Millions Put in War Charity Treasury

BY JACK MAHON

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—One of the most colorful, eventful and thrilling-packed years in the long history of sports is ending but before we close the record books for the last time we think it proper to pause a moment and consider just what the people of sports have done for war relief. Though no official figures are available. A conservative check by your correspondent revealed today more than $6,000,000 was raised by sports for various war charities during 1942!

The exact figure we arrived at was $6,006,724.00. While this is necessarily an approximate total, it is based on the latest reports made to various sports headquarters.

Racing, baseball, boxing, professional football, golf, tennis and basketball were checked with the named leading all the rest.

The Turf Committee of America, which handled the affairs of racing in connection with war relief, will not have its official report ready for about a week but a spokesman said today the amount would reach "nearly three million dollars."

For purposes of our table we credited racing with $2,750,000. Figures made available at the offices of the National league showed baseball had raised $1,366,724.00.

Leagues Help

This represents the donations of the National league ($267,901.30) and American league ($255,327.70) plus a donation of $232,474.00 made by the minor leagues proceeds from the all-star game and world series and contributions to the ball and bat fund for the soldiers.

Golfdom certainly made a great showing with officials estimating a flat $1,000,000 would not be exaggeration. Some 5,000 clubs turned over $200,000 to the Red Cross.

AAU ATHLETES MEET TO SEEK MORE RECORDS

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—War or no war, American athletes continue on their merry way—breaking records.

Up for verification before the National Amateur Athletic Union today were 141 new standards in everything from pole vaulting to swimming. The AAU meets Friday to take action.

Track and field athletes continued to dominate the record-breakers with 57 new marks. Women swimmers had 51 and men swimmers 33 of the remainder. There were 193 new records in 1941 and an all-time high of 322 in 1940.

From the standpoint of numbers, Miss Gloria Callen, the photogenic swimmer, holds the number one spot. Miss Callen, who swims the back stroke for the Women's Swimming Association of New York, has nineteen new marks ready to enter in the book. Cornelius Warmerdam, the only man ever to pole vault fifteen feet, is the leading male competitor but he was closely pressed by Bill Smith, the Hawaiian swimming wonder. Warmerdam, who cleared fifteen feet this year 26 times, is down for new marks of 15 7/8 inches indoors and 15 7 and 3/4 outdoors.

Smith, who won three national outdoor championships, seeks records in the 440, of 439.6, and the half-mile, 9:54.6.

Willie Pep signs to battle Lew Hanbury.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—World's featherweight champ Willie Pep today was signed for a 10-round, overweight, non-title fight with Lew Hanbury, Washington lightweight, in the nation's capital December 14.

Pep, who won his title last month, is being guaranteed $1,000 and the privilege of 35 percent of the gross receipts while Hanbury agreed to 15 percent of the gate.

Fred Dumm, Administrator
C. G. Chalfin, Auctioneer

Cross for three days' of play, especially arranged for May 30, July 4 and Labor Day. Exhibitions and tournament raised $250,000 more. Various local and sectional tournaments, and special matches provided about $500,000 more, said Fred Cochrane of the P. G. A.

Boxing had a big war year. Sgt. Joe Louis' two title defenses at Madison Square garden, plus the donation of Joe's own purses, launched the drive with approximately $155,000. While no figures are available for the rest of the country most observers believe $100,000 could easily be added to pugilism's credit balance.

Pro Gridders Help

The National Professional Football league reports that approximately $600,000 has been raised by the cash and carry pigskinners, to date, with returns from two or three more games and the pro bowl game to be audited while tennis and basketball have collected in the neighborhood of $40,000 so far.

College football is about the only major sport that hasn't seemed too anxious to do its part and, at this writing, it would appear the various bowl committees will adopt the same "let George do it" policy.

This is the only shameful chapter in a sports log of 1942 of which every athlete and fan can be justifiably proud.

Goodbye, Giants

Bill Terry, for so many years a New York Giant star, manager and last year front office man, has announced the end of his association with the New York National league club. Terry, 42, said he would like the chance of taking over the Philadelphia franchise.

Because of the change in schedule to conform with the transportation order Big Ten teams will play the same opponents on Saturday and Monday nights in the same gymnasiums in many instances. Formerly two-game series were played on a home-and-home basis.

Although the faculty representatives and the athletic directors were agreed on the proposition of striving for economy, all schools have voiced their intentions of maintaining a complete intramural program. In the majority of conference schools the intramurals now are directed to physical fitness courses.

FILM STAR, U. S. HEROES APPEAR AT GRID JOUST

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 8.—The benefit game between the National pro league all-stars and the league champions in Philadelphia December 27 may not be a three-ring circus, but it'll come pretty close to qualifying.

Officials of the United Seamen's Service, beneficiary of the contest, announced they expect Hollywood screen Star Madeleine Carroll to auction off the ball game. Admiral Albert R. Randall, 40-year veteran of the merchant marine, is arranging to present several heroes of recent naval action during the court of the game.

The all-stars, meanwhile, are scheduled to arrive Monday to begin practice sessions. Their opposition will be decided Sunday, when the Chicago Bears and the Washington Redskins clash in the annual playoff at Washington.

The Governor Winthrop desk was never used by Governor Winthrop, early governor of Massachusetts Bay Colony. The name is apparently borrowed, as the desk did not come into use until some 100 years after his death.

Arlington won easily from Granville last week and is favored to knock off the Tigers, but the game should be a good one.

Preliminary starts at 7 o'clock.

Harley (Chick) Pearce, veteran central Ohio official, will handle the varsity game.

Tiger Lineup for Cage Tilt Remains Uncertain

Continuing to seek the best possible combination on his squad, Coach Roy Black is uncertain just how his starting team will line up Tuesday evening when it takes on the speedy Upper Arlington Golden Bears in the C. A. C. gymnasium. The Tigers have been thumped in two games, but still show signs that ere the season is ended they may develop into a strong aggregation.

Starting lineup in both games to date has been E. Dade and Small-

Week End Frays With Same Cage Opponent Likely During Season

BY H. C. WARREN

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—Western Conference athletic championship programs faced possible sharp curtailment or revision for the duration today as faculty representatives and athletic directors of the Big Ten opened a two-day session in Chicago.

The order of Joseph B. Eastman, director of the Office of Defense Transportation, had a drastic effect on the meeting itself with only about 40 persons being present as against the 100 to 150 men who attend the annual Winter meeting during normal times.

The conference hopes to maintain all its championships, both indoor and outdoor track, swimming, golf, tennis, gymnastics, etc., but individual schools were given the right to curtail or abandon any of the sports. It was agreed that there will be few dual or triangular meets and the number of contestants and events in the Big Ten title matches may be sharply reduced.

The Big Ten has already drawn up its 1943 and 1944 football schedules but there was evidence of revisions in the slates in an attempt to reduce travel. For the 1943 season all Big Ten football teams have agreed to play a minimum of six games. In the event Great Lakes, Iowa Pre-flight and other service schools are given full schedules again few outside schools are expected to find openings on conference school schedules.

Cage Plan Begins

Big Ten basketball teams will launch their campaigns the night of January 9 and wind up March 6 under the newly revised schedules. The revised cage schedule calls for 59 games. Twelve conference games will be played by Illinois, the defending champion, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio, Northwestern, Purdue and Wisconsin. Indiana will play 13 games and Chicago nine. Teams playing 12 games will meet five opponents twice and two opponents once. Indiana will meet six opponents twice and one other Big Ten foe once. Chicago will play all other conference teams once.

Because of the change in schedule to conform with the transportation order Big Ten teams will play the same opponents on Saturday and Monday nights in the same gymnasiums in many instances. Formerly two-game series were played on a home-and-home basis.

Although the faculty representatives and the athletic directors were agreed on the proposition of striving for economy, all schools have voiced their intentions of maintaining a complete intramural program. In the majority of conference schools the intramurals now are directed to physical fitness courses.

CUB BOSS SAYS LOU NOVIKOFF NOT ON BLOCK

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—General Manager James T. Gallagher of the Chicago Cubs denied rumors today that he had traded Lou Novikoff, the "mad Russian," or even that negotiations were in progress.

Branch Rickey, head of the Brooklyn Dodgers, was reported interested in acquiring Novikoff during the recent major league baseball meeting in Chicago and it was assumed he would renew his efforts to get him. Several other clubs hinted they would like to get hold of Novikoff if a favorable deal could be arranged.

Novikoff, a fence-busting hero in the Pacific coast league, suffered an inexplicable loss of batting power when bought from Los Angeles by the Cubs two years ago, but Gallagher said he was not discouraged.

"Why should we trade him now?" he asked. "That fellow has made me walk the floor. The suffering he has caused would be as nothing compared to how we'd squirm if he became a .350 hitter with some other club."

Six Millions Put in War Charity Treasury

BY JACK MAHON

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—One of the most colorful, eventful and thrill-packed years in the long history of sports is ending but before we close the record books for the last time we think it proper to pause a moment and consider just what the people of sports have done for war relief. Though no official figures are available. A conservative check by your correspondent revealed today more than $6,000,000 was raised by sports for various war charities during 1942!

The exact figure we arrived at was $6,006,724.00. While this is necessarily an approximate total, it is based on the latest reports made to various sports headquarters.

Racing, baseball, boxing, professional football, golf, tennis and basketball were checked with the named leading all the rest.

The Turf Committee of America, which handled the affairs of racing in connection with war relief, will not have its official report ready for about a week but a spokesman said today the amount would reach "nearly three million dollars."

For purposes of our table we credited racing with $2,750,000. Figures made available at the offices of the National league showed baseball had raised $1,366,724.00.

Leagues Help

This represents the donations of the National league ($267,901.30) and American league ($253,327.70) plus a donation of $232,474.00 made by the minor leagues proceeds from the all-star game and world series and contributions to the ball and bat fund for the soldiers.

Goldfom certainly made a great showing with officials estimating a flat $1,000,000 would not be exaggerated. Some 5,000 clubs turned over $200,000 to the Red Cross for three days of play, especially arranged for May 30, July 4 and Labor Day. Exhibitions and tournament raised $250,000 more. Various local and sectional tournaments, and special matches provided about $500,000 more, said Fred Cochran of the P. G. A.

Boxing had a big war year. Sgt. Joe Louis' two title defenses at Madison Square garden, plus the donation of Joe's own purses, launched the drive with approximately $155,000. While no figures are available for the rest of the country most observers believe $100,000 could easily be added to pugilism's credit balance.

Pro Gridders Help

The National Professional Football league reports that approximately $600,000 has been raised by the cash and carry pigskinners, to date, with returns from two or three more games and the pro bowl game to be audited while tennis and basketball have collected in the neighborhood of $40,000 so far.

College football is about the only major sport that hasn't seemed too anxious to do its part and, at this writing, it would appear the various bowl committees will adopt the same "let George do it" policy.

This is the only shameful chapter in a sports log of 1942 of which every athlete and fan can be justifiably proud.

Goodby, Giants

Bill Terry, for so many years a New York Giant star, manager and last year front office man, has announced the end of his association with the New York National league club. Terry, 42, said he would like the chance of taking over the Philadelphia franchise.

FILM STAR, U. S. HEROES APPEAR AT GRID JOUST

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 8.—The benefit game between the National pro league all-stars and the league champions in Philadelphia December 27 may not be a three-ring circus, but it'll come pretty close to qualifying.

Officials of the United Seamen's Service, beneficiary of the contest, announced they expect Hollywood screen star Madeleine Carroll to auction off the ball game. Admiral Albert R. Randall, 40-year veteran of the merchant marine, is arranging to present several heroes of recent naval action during the course of the game.

The all-stars, meanwhile, are scheduled to arrive Monday to begin practice sessions. Their opposition will be decided Sunday, when the Chicago Bears and the Washington Redskins clash in the annual playoff at Washington.

The Governor Winthrop desk was never used by Governor Winthrop, early governor of Massachusetts Bay Colony. The name is apparently borrowed, as the desk did not come into use until some 100 years after his death.

Willie Pep signs to battle Lew Hanbury

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—World's featherweight champ Willie Pep today was signed for a 10-round, overweight, non-title fight with Lew Hanbury, Washington lightweight, in the nation's capital December 14.

Pep, who won his title last month, is being guaranteed $1,000 and the privilege of 35 percent of the gross receipts while Hanbury agreed to 15 percent of the gate.

Tiger Lineup for Cage Tilt Remains Uncertain

Continuing to seek the best possible combination on his squad, Coach Roy Black is uncertain just how his starting team will line up Tuesday evening when it takes on the speedy Upper Arlington Golden Bears in the C. BIG TEN HOPES TO RETAIN ITS GRID SCHEDULE

Changes Possible Though With Transportation Problem Vital

PROGRAMS BEING DRAWN

Week End Frays With Same Cage Opponent Likely During Season

Big Ten basketball teams will launch their campaigns the night of January 9 and wind up March 6 under the newly revised schedules. The revised cage schedule calls for 59 games. Twelve conference games will be played by Illinois, the defending champion, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio, Northwestern, Purdue and Wisconsin. Indiana will play 13 games and Chicago nine. Teams playing 12 games will meet five opponents twice and one opponent once. Indiana will play all other conference teams once.

Because of the change in schedule to conform with the transportation order Big Ten teams will play the same opponents on Saturday and Monday nights in the same gymnasiums in many instances. Formerly two-game series were played on a home-and-home basis.

Although the faculty representatives and the athletic directors were agreed on the proposition of striving for economy, all schools have voiced their intentions of maintaining a complete intramural program. In the majority of conference schools the intramurals now are directed to physical fitness courses.

First Civilian Defense Assembly in City Proves Success

346 TAKE POSTS IN 10 MINUTES AFTER ALARM

Lone Factory Whistle Proves Inadequate And Is To Be Supplemented

LEADERS HIGHLY PLEASED

Chiefs Of Various Units Are Congratulated On Fine Showing

Three hundred and forty-six persons associated with the Circleville Civilian Defense Council responded in person Monday afternoon to their various pre-assigned posts inside of 10 minutes after the alarm was sounded in the city's initial test assembly.

Civilian Defense officials were highly pleased with the results of the first test, despite a few kinks which will be ironed out before the next test—a dimout—is conducted at a later date. Container Corporation's whistle which was to be the signal for the test alert was muffled by weather conditions so was not heard north of High street. Revised plans call for other factories which operate 24 hours daily to join with the Container Corporation in sounding whistles for alerts to come at later dates. Railroads operating in the city will also be asked to post their switch engine operators to join in the chorus of whistles when the next alert is sounded, so that the alarm will be heard over the entire city.

During days in which atmospheric conditions are satisfactory the Container Corporation whistle can be heard as far away as six miles, but Monday was not one of those days.

Units Assembled

In less than 10 minutes after the 12:25 p. m. alarm was sounded 25 auxiliary firemen, 22 members of the women's auxiliary drivers' corps, 22 utility repairmen, 64 air raid wardens, 54 fire watchers, 51 members of the emergency medical corps, 15 messengers, 37 members of the county auxiliary police unit, 29 members of the city auxiliary police unit and 17 members of the staff had reported to their posts.

There was no excitement during the alert, and everything went according to schedule. Defense Council officials, led by T. E. Wilson, executive director of the Council's activities, expressed their congratulations to various leaders who were responsible for the showing. George P. Foreman, served as post commander during alert.

Dimout Is Next

During the dimout, date for which will be announced soon, street lights and traffic lights will be left burning, but all other lights must be out.

Various division heads are urging completion of training for members of their units who have not completed preparation for service.

Arm bands, without which no one will be permitted on the street in a blackout, have been issued to Robert Wolf's auxiliary fire group. This is the only unit which has completed all its training to date. Additional arm bands and decals for automobiles will be ordered late this week for air raid wardens, fire watchers, messengers and members of the drivers' corps who have completed or are about to complete training.

W. D. Heiskell, mayor of Williamsport, reported Monday afternoon that with exception of six persons who were out of the village at the time of the alert that the test in his village was 100 percent. Edward C. Rector and H. W. Campbell are post commander and chief air raid warden, respectively.

72 At Williamsport

In all, 72 persons reported in Williamsport within three minutes, the fire alarm siren being used as the alarm there.

Unit chiefs in Williamsport include C. E. Hill, auxiliary firemen; Blaine Ater, auxiliary police; Lee Luellen, decontamination squad; Mrs. Mary Metzger, auxiliary drivers' corps; Howard Puffinbarger, demolition squad; Mrs. George Hunsicker, housing committee; Dr. S. D. Gamble, medical corps; Glenn Baker, fire watchers; Mrs. Mary Luellen, nurses' aids; S. B. Metzger, rescue squad; Joe Whiteded, road repair squad; Joe

BLOCK LEADERS TO HOLD FIRST LOCAL MEETING

Assembly Called For 7:30 Wednesday At St. Joseph Recreation Hall

MRS. SHULZE IN CHARGE

Women's Organization Set To Carry Information Into All Homes

Block leaders, important group organized for Civilian Defense under direction of Mrs. Eva B. Shulze, South Court street, will hold their first meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the recreation hall of St. Joseph's church.

Preparations are being made for block leaders to go to work, their first assignment to be distribution of information concerning the government's important share-the-meat program.

Government information concerning the share-the-meat plan has been received by the Circleville Defense Council and its distribution is being planned just as soon as the block units can be completely organized. A captain has been designated by Mrs. Shulze to work in each of Circleville's city blocks.

Chosen As Leaders

Block leaders are chosen to lead their neighbors in the community war effort. They will be doing a vitally important job in the war effort since they will pass along information sent by the government so that it will go into each home. Close, personal contacts with housewives will serve in many instances to put the government's plan concerning any particular function across.

Block leaders will carry the government's message concerning any given program into the homes, to give constructive, specific plans as to how civilians are to carry out the project, to answer any questions their neighbors may have and finally to follow through to be certain the job is completed. They will also operate with the air raid warden in the district.

Qualifications Listed

Seven 'earmarks' of a good block leader include: 1. The block leader is a woman chosen for leadership in the civilian war effort; 2. The block leader takes pride in being a line officer on the civilian front; 3. The block leader has studied thoroughly the general duties and responsibilities of block leaders, and the organizational plan of the block system at meetings called for that purpose; 4. The block leader clearly sees the relationship between the war and civilian war services; 5. The block leader arms himself with the reasons WHY for a specific campaign WHY civilians should participate, and HOW they can do so, by attending sector meetings when they are called for this purpose; 6. The block leader is faithful to the fulfillment of duties and recognizes a serious responsibility, and 7. The block leader reports concisely the results of interviews to the section chief, who in turn reports to the zone chief, who then reports to the chief of the block leader service.

There's no ceiling on thought, either.

Killed in Barroom

The bullet-riddled body of Charles Kerns, above, a politician, was found in a Chicago barroom. Kerns' identification card as a city employee, a deputy sheriff's badge and a huge roll of paper money were found on his body.

GEORGE KERNS BOUND TO JURY; THEFT CHARGED

George Kerns, 34, of Washington C. H., was bound to the grand jury under $500 bond, which he failed to provide, Monday when he appeared before Mayor Ben H. Gordon on a larceny charge. The complaint was filed by Mrs. Walter McDill, who charged that Kerns stole $110 from her when he was helping her to move her household goods two years ago.

The Fayette countian was arrested Saturday night in Circleville.

Other hearings conducted before the mayor Monday include Cliff Bunn, 57, Orient Route 1, fined $10 and costs and sent to the county jail for failure to pay after admitting being intoxicated; Miss Virginia Rumbarger, 37, of Columbus, fined $25 and costs with $10 suspended on condition she leave Circleville as soon as she serves out the $15 and costs in the county jail, and Miss Francis Bush, 26, Circleville Route 2, fined $10 and costs for intoxication and disorderly conduct. She, too, was sent to the county jail.

Real truth about the Red Cross workers rushing blood plasma by plane to Boston, with the inscription "The Red Cross Comes Through," was that it was just another piece of Red Cross ballyhoo.

There was blood plasma already in Boston—plenty of it—collected and kept in reserve by the Office of Civil Defense. Actually the OCD had a total of 2,708 units of plasma on hand in Boston. As a result of the fire only 1,303 units were used. Thus more than 1,000 units still are on hand there.

Despite this, the Red Cross sent a dribble of only two to three hundred units to Boston. When a Red Cross official was asked why more plasma was sent, when it must have known there was plenty on hand, he replied:

"Oh, we thought it was a good chance to get a little extra publicity."

U. S. LIQUOR BILL

The American people are now drinking liquor at a rate never surpassed in the history of the country. The previous high was during the last war, when 1917 consumption hit 167 million gallons. But during the first eight months of this year, consumption was 115 million gallons, which will mean a total of 171 million gallons for 1942.

Twice in the last year, new federal taxes have been slapped on distilled spirits. Each time consumption has faltered a little under the burden, then spurred ahead faster than before. In September 1941, just before the $4 a gallon federal tax was imposed, there was a consumption of 17 million gallons. The October figure dropped to 10, but by December, it was up to 17 again.

The same thing is now happening after the additional $2 tax imposed November 1.

Liquor consumption has increased steadily since repeal of prohibition in 1933. From the 1934 figure of 58 million, it has shot up to 158 in 1941.

By far the greater part of this is domestic rye and bourbon. Imported Scotch whiskey is only one twentieth of the total—or about 7,200,000 gallons.

Yet it is remarkable that the British have maintained their deliveries of Scotch whiskey, despite hell and high water. The ships which come here for Lend-Lease supplies are loaded with Scotch whiskey, sale of which creates practically the only dollar exchange the British now have.

In the three years since the war began, 10 million cases of Scotch have been shipped, with a loss of only 200,000 cases.

HUNTERS HAVE MONTH MORE TO KILL RABBITS

Almost a month of hunting remains for Circleville and Pickaway county sportsmen despite the fact that the season on pheasant, Hungarian partridge and ruffed grouse ended last Saturday.

Hunters may continue to take rabbits until January 5.

Trappers are in the midst of their season. Mink, muskrat, raccoon, opossum and skunk season continues through January 15 in this part of the state, although continuing to March 15 in the Lake Erie area.

Season on red fox continues through February 1 in the southern half of the state. There is no closed season in any part of the state on gray fox.

CHARLES GLITT GETS RABBITS OF GREAT SIZE

Two of the largest rabbits to be shot in the Circleville district this season were exhibited Monday by Charles Glitt, South Court street. One of the rabbits weighed more than five pounds and the other was near that figure. A third rabbit was somewhat smaller.

Glitt said the rabbits were shot on Chippy island in the Scioto river in the rear of the Container Corporation plant. Some persons believed they were jackrabbits, but they are not the regular western jack.

The hunter said that Donald Brungs of Circleville had shot a rabbit this year which weighed more than six pounds.

Pipe Line Digging to Get Under Way Soon

Trench digging for the 1,383 mile oil pipe line from Texas to the east coast will start across Pickaway county just soon as right-of-way problems are cleared up.

Two pipe laying crews will start from a point just north of Waterloo, which is northwest of New Holland, one moving westward and one eastward. A 24-inch pipe line will be electrically welded in the field and laid as rapidly as the trench is cut. The trench will be five feet deep.

Contractors in charge of the work through Pickaway county are Bechdel and Dempsey, while the contractor moving westward through Fayette county and westward to Butler county is the C. S. Farver Co.

The pipe line will cross Monroe township at Pherson and will continue eastward crossing the Scioto river south of Ashville into Fairfield county.

First Civilian Defense Assembly in City Proves Success

346 TAKE POSTS IN 10 MINUTES AFTER ALARM

Lone Factory Whistle Proves Inadequate And Is To Be Supplemented

LEADERS HIGHLY PLEASED

Chiefs Of Various Units Are Congratulated On Fine Showing

Three hundred and forty-six persons associated with the Cincinnati Civilian Defense Council responded in person Monday afternoon to their various pre-assigned posts inside of 10 minutes after the alarm was sounded in the city's initial test assembly.

Civilian Defense officials were highly pleased with the results of the first test, despite a few kinks which will be ironed out before the next test—a dimout—is conducted at a later date. Container Corporation's whistle which was to be the signal for the test alert was muffled by weather conditions so was not heard north of High street. Revised plans call for other factories which operate 24 hours daily to join with the Container Corporation in sounding whistles for alerts to come at later dates. Railroads operating in the city will also be asked to post their switch engine operators to join in the chorus of whistles when the next alert is sounded, so that the alarm will be heard over the entire city.

During days in which atmospheric conditions are satisfactory the Container Corporation whistle can be heard as far away as six miles, but Monday was not one of those days.

Units Assembled

In less than 10 minutes after the 12:25 p. m. alarm was sounded 25 auxiliary firemen, 22 members of the women's auxiliary drivers' corps, 22 utility repairmen, 64 air raid wardens, 54 fire watchers, 51 members of the emergency medical corps, 15 messengers, 37 members of the county auxiliary police unit, 29 members of the city auxiliary police unit and 17 members of the staff had reported to their posts.

There was no excitement during the alert, and everything went according to schedule. Defense Council officials, led by T. E. Wilson, executive director of the Council's activities, expressed their congratulations to various leaders who were responsible for the showing. George P. Foreman, served as post commander during alert.

Dimout Is Next

During the dimout, date for which will be announced soon, street lights and traffic lights will be left burning, but all other lights must be out.

Various division heads are urging completion of training for members of their units who have not completed preparation for service.

Arm bands, without which no one will be permitted on the street in a blackout, have been issued to Robert Wolf's auxiliary fire group. This is the only unit which has completed all its training to date. Additional arm bands and decals for automobiles will be ordered late this week for air raid wardens, fire watchers, messengers and members of the drivers' corps who have completed or are about to complete training.

W. D. Heiskell, mayor of Williamsport, reported Monday afternoon that with exception of six persons who were out of the village at the time of the alert that the test in his village was 100 percent. Edward C. Rector and H. W. Campbell are post commander and chief air raid warden, respectively.

72 At Williamsport

In all, 72 persons reported in Williamsport within three minutes, the fire alarm siren being used as the alarm there.

Unit chiefs in Williamsport include C. E. Hill, auxiliary firemen; Elaine Ater, auxiliary police; Lee Luellen, decontamination squad; Mrs. Mary Metzger, auxiliary drivers' corps; Howard Puffinbarger, demolition squad; Mrs. George Hunsicker, housing committee; Dr. S. One ship was sunk 120 miles off the African Coast in the Mediterranean, but despite that distance the troops came ashore in landing boats and participated in the battle around Oran. For about ten days while our transports were en route across the Atlantic, Secretary of War Stimson could hardly sleep, fearing any night he would be awakened by news of a troop-laden ship sunk. The fact that they got so near the African shore before disaster was considered a real achievement. . . . Harry Mahan, Washington—Please send more facts.

HUNTERS HAVE MONTH MORE TO KILL RABBITS

Almost a month of hunting remains for Circleville and Pickaway county sportsmen despite the fact that the season on pheasant, Hungarian partridge and ruffed grouse ended last Saturday.

Hunters may continue to take rabbits until January 5.

Trappers are in the midst of their season. Mink, muskrat, raccoon, opossum and skunk season continues through January 15 in this part of the state, although continuing to March 15 in the Lake Erie area.

Season on red fox continues through February 1 in the southern half of the state. There is no closed season in any part of the state on gray fox.

CHARLES GLITT GETS RABBITS OF GREAT SIZE

Two of the largest rabbits to be shot in the Circleville district this season were exhibited Monday by Charles Glitt, South Court street. One of the rabbits weighed more than five pounds and the other was near that figure. A third rabbit was somewhat smaller.

Glitt said the rabbits were shot on Chippy island in the Scioto river in the rear of the Container Corporation plant. Some persons believed they were jackrabbits, but they are not the regular western jack.

The hunter said that Donald Brungs of Circleville had shot a rabbit this year which weighed more than six pounds.

Pipe Line Digging to Get Under Way Soon

Trench digging for the 1,383 mile oil pipe line from Texas to the east coast will start across Pickaway county just soon as right-of-way problems are cleared up.

Two pipe laying crews will start from a point just north of Waterloo, which is northwest of New Holland, one moving westward and one eastward. A 24-inch pipe line will be electrically welded in the field and laid as rapidly as the trench is cut. The trench will be five feet deep.

Contractors in charge of the work through Pickaway county are Bechdel and Dempsey, while the contractor moving westward through Fayette county and westward to Butler county is the C. S. Faerdie Co.

The pipe line will cross Monroe township at Pershon and will continue eastward crossing the Scioto river south of Bloomfield and also going south of Ashville into Fairfield county.

As soon as the right-of-way is cleared and ditching machines are ready to cut the trench, a clearing

SOIL CONSERVATION TO BE SUBJECT OF MEET

An important meeting of Pickaway county agricultural leaders is planned Friday at 8 p. m. in Memorial Hall when members of the AAA, the various township committees, grange members, Farm Bureau members and others will meet to discuss 1943 soil conservation practices.

Speakers from the state AAA and from Ohio State university are expected to be here for the meeting.
